Allies Claim Chinese Holding Back POW's

Say Nearly 3,000 Yanks Not on Lists

Latest Returnees Add Voice to Gen. Clark's Protest on Holdout

PANMUNJOM (AP) — A healthier group of 394 Allied war prisoners came out of Communist captivity today and added to mush-rooming reports the Reds are holding back some POWs — including perhaps 2,000 to 3,000 Americans.

Eighty - one Americans were among the group released today under a brilliant sun at this way-side village in the third day of the Korean war prisoner exchange—"Operation Big Switch."

Although the Reds had promised 400, an unofficial count showed six South Koreans missing from the scheduled 250. There was no immediate explanation.

The Reds also sent back 25 British, 25 Turks, 12 Filipinos and 7 Colombians.

They said the next group, scheduled for 9 a. m. Saturday (7 p. m. Friday, EST), would include 90 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 35 Turks and 25 British.

That will bring the total of Americans released to 311, still only a bare fraction of the 3,313 the Reds have promised to return.

In all, the Allies are handing over 74,000 Reds for 12,763 Allied POWs.

The U. N. Command sent back 2,753 Communists Friday, a quieter and better-behaved group than those of the first two days, who ranted wildly in last-minute shows of defiance. They still sang and chanted, but they were more restrained and did not attack U. . personnel as they did earlier.

The Allied repatriates, wearing faded blue Chinese uniforms, appeared in much better condition mentally and physically than the sick and weary men released the first two days. Even so, some were ill and needed medical care.

The Reds, showing eagerness for the first time, started the exchange at 8:55 a. m., five minutes ahead of time.

The Americans laughed as they climbed from the Red trucks and jokes cracked from man to man. They waved and smiled and yelled to correspondents awaiting them.

When the trucks stopped, they jumped quickly to the ground, grinning.

The South Koreans appeared more worn and sick. Some were masked with gauze, for lung diseases. Others were gaunt and thin. Some had to be helped from trucks.

However, an ominous fear blurred the happiness of the present exchange as reports grew that the Reds may be holding out thousands of POWs, many of them Americans, in their bleak Northern stockades.

Returning prisoners have told of U. S. officers being sentenced for "instigating against peace."

In Washington, Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. N. Far East commander, told a news conference there is

More Ohioans On Latest List

By The Associated Press

Four more Ohioans are included in the latest list of freed prisoners of war, bringing the total to seven.

Released today were Cpl. Joe E. Homonia of Wadsworth, Pfc. Donald C. Stewart and Pfc. Charles B. Bryant Jr., both of Cincinnati, and Cpl. James R. Tracy of Columbus.

Homonia's family has some bad news to break to him when he comes home. His father died while Joe was in a prison camp.

The corporal's sister, Mrs. Margaret Moyer, said:

"That kind of spoils some of our gladness. We've never told him about it in any of our letters.

Cpl. Homonia's twin brother, John, arrived home from Korea last April.

There was nothing to dampen the happiness at the home of Mrs. Isabelle J. Jackson, mother of Pfc. Stewart.

"Oh, that's wonderful," she cried when a newsman informed her of her son's release. "He has three step-brothers he has never seen, and they're so anxious to see him."

She explained she and her husband, Calvin Jackson, were married about the time her son entered

Russell C. Shockey Dies

Marion Lineman Killed On Touching 'Hot' Wire

Russell C. Shockey, 43, of 274 Forest St., a lineman for the Ohio Edison Co., was electrocuted early this morning when he accidentally touched a 4,160 volt electric line on N. Main St.

He had climbed to near the top of an electric pole about 7:30 a.m. and was working near the high-voltage line when he touched the wire and was apparently killed almost instantly.

A safety belt held the body to the top of the pole until a fellow lineman, who saw the accident, climbed the pole and lowered the body to the ground while another called the fire department inhalator squad.

Firemen attempted to revive Mr. Shockey for about 15 minutes but were unsuccessful.

Company officials reported he and the other linemen were engaged in routine work changing a 2,400 volt line to 4,160 volts.

He had joined the Ohio Edison Co. as a lineman in November, 1945.

Mr. Shockey was born July 5, 1910, in Barbour County, West Va., a son of Garnet and Madge Sharp Shockey. March 29, 1934, at Clarksburg, W. Va., he married Dorothy Alexandre. A resident of Marion since 1945, he came here from Clarksburg, and was a member of St. Mary Catholic Church here and of K of C.

A U. S. Navy veteran of World War II, he entered service in 1941 at New Brighton, Pa., and served as a fireman first class in the Navy compass office with duty at New Orleans, La., DeMoines, Ia., and Norfolk, Va.

Surviving are his widow, his father who lives at Sagerstown, Pa., and children, Mrs. Donna Sayre of W. Columbia St., and Barbara Jean, David, Jeffrey, John and Richard Shockey, two grandchildren, a brother, Arvey Shockey of Masury, O., and a sister, Mrs. William Seckman of Clarksburg.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Mary Church. The pastor, Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V.F., will officiate. Burial will be in St. Mary Cemetery. Friends may call at the L. A. Axe and Son Funeral Home on Mt. Vernon Ave. after 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Local Boy, 10, Hurt in Crash Of Auto, Bike

Ten-year-old James Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of near Marion, is in "critical" condition at Marion City Hospital as a result of a car-bicycle collision on U. S. 30-S. The mishap was one of four investigated yesterday and early today by state highway patrolmen.

The young bicyclist rode into the path of a westbound car driven by Harry C. Darrah, 22, of Louisville, O., about 12:45 p.m. Thursday at the Silver St. and Route 30-S intersection, just west of the city limits, patrolmen said. The bicycle was demolished by the impact and was removed from the accident scene by the county sheriff's department. Minor damage to the front end of the car was reported.

The boy was taken to Marion City Hospital in a Gunder ambulance. His injuries include a head injury, fractured left clavicle and chest injury and his condition was described as "critical" this morning.

Darrah was arrested by patrolmen on a charge of unsafe op-

Agreement Reached

Dulles To Sign Security Pact With Rhee Tonight

SEOUL, Aug. 7 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Syngman Rhee will initial the draft of a security reaty between the United States and South Korea tomorrow, it was announced officially tonight.

The ceremony is scheduled for 10 a. m. (8 p. m. EST today).

Agreement was reached on the treaty today.

The announcement was made by members of Dulles' party and the office of President Rhee. A joint statement from Rhee and Dulles is expected tomorrow and the secretary of state will hold a news conference here before leaving for Tokyo.

Rhee has demanded the treaty as one condition for South Korea going along wih an armistice in Korea. President Eisenhower promised in June to negotiate a security pact, which still must be approved by the U. S. Senate.

The treaty was reported patterned closely after the security pact between the United States and The Philippines. It provides that the United States will come to the aid of South Korea in the event of new Communist aggression. It also provides for basing American troops in South Korea.

Dulles met two hours and 45 minutes with Rhee today. He said he

Ike Reviews Half-Year in White House

Administration Off To Good Start, Public Is Told in Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower staked out a claim today that his administration has made "a good start" toward building an honest, efficient regime at home while exerting its power in the cause of world peace.

But Eisenhower conceded that his administration has by no means "seen and conquered all the problems of our nation" in its first six months.

In an all-network radio address to the American public last night, the chief executive declared this to be his "single, supreme purpose":

"To serve and to strengthen our people, all our people, in their faith in freedom and in their quest of peace; and to strengthen all peoples who share with us that faith and that quest."

It was a let's-take-a-look-at-the-record address, much of it already said before but brought up to date and keyed to last Monday's adjournment of Congress.

In it, he mentioned an even dozen actions by Congress—on such items as revised programs for defense and aid to America's allies, admission of refugees, lifting of economic controls, extension of needed if "onerous" taxes.

Even though the executive and legislative branches have had their differences, Eisenhower said, good will between them has been built up rapidly and firmly.

Overseas, he said, there has has been the fostering of Western unity. U. S. food shipments for rebellious East Germans, and a Korea truce in which "two precious victories" have been gained:

An opportunity has been won, he said, to demonstrate that free people can build in peace as boldly as they fight in war. And, in an apparent warning to Russia not to start anything elsewhere, he said Korea has shown "that the collective resolve of the free world can and will meet aggression in Asia—or anywhere in the world."

What it all adds up to, the chief executive said, is "only a little more than a beginning." And it was with caution and concern that he peered into a future he said is still filled with trial and hazard.

In effect, if not actual intent, the speech was a comeback at those Democrats who have been saying the administration record is far from impressive up to now. House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas said only yesterday that the only 1952 campaign promise the GOP has kept was that of "hard money"—they have "made it harder to get."

Immediate reaction to the Eisenhower address was almost entirely lacking among members of Congress. Many have gone home. Several senators said they had not tuned in. Some who listened declined to comment.

French Strike In Protest of Defense Costs

PARIS (AP)—France's vast army of two million civil servants slapped Premier Joseph Laniel with a crippling 24-to-48 hour nationwide general strike today. They demanded he cut defense costs instead of upping their retirement age and trimming their ranks.

The protest against the Premier's rumored plans for government economies was France's worst strike since the 1936 days of Socialist Leon Blum's popular front government.

Trains ground to a halt throughout the country. Telephones were dead. Gas flickered feebly. Garbage piled up in the streets. Non-government mine workers also joined in.

Paris buses and subways ran throughout the morning, but unions decided just before noon to call out their operators immediately. That left only taxis and private automobiles for capital riders.

The nation's business and commercial life rapidly approached paralysis. It looked like much of it would stay that way until Monday.

This was the strike picture this morning:

Postal, telegraph and telephone service—220,000 workers on indefinite strike for last two days; mail and telegrams stopped, telephone communications slashed 90 per cent.

Railroads, mines and municipal services (street cleaners, garbage collectors, undertakers, etc.)—on 24-hour strike until midnight Saturday; gas and electricity operating on reserves; gas pressure low and expected to drop drastically; electric power likely to decline in some sections; water pressure expected to dwindle.

It's Official Now: Ohio Joins Union

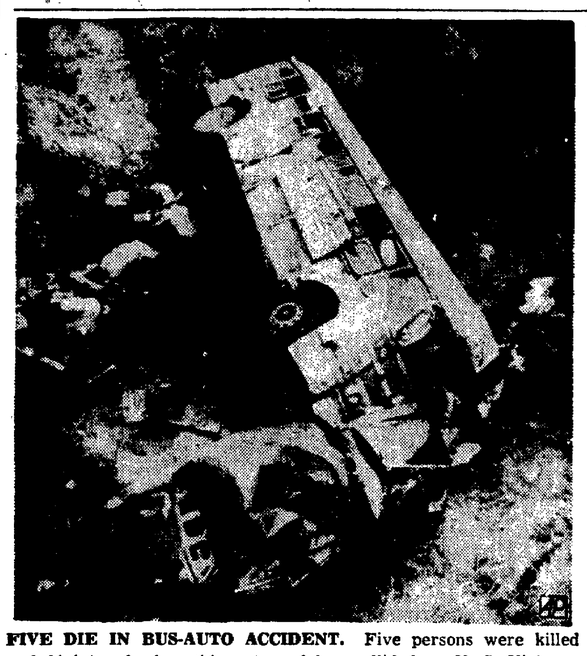
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today made it official: Ohio is a full fledged member of the Union.

He signed a bill confirming that:

"The State of Ohio . . . is herby declared to be one of the United States of America and is admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states."

The bill became necessary after historians turned up the somewhat startling fact that Congress never had formally admitted Ohio, although it had approved the state's boundaries and Constitution.

Youth Pleads Guilty To 10 Arson Charges



FIVE DIE IN BUS-AUTO ACCIDENT. Five persons were killed and 24 injured when this auto and bus collided on U. S. Highway 66 near Hydro, Okla. Ambulances, nurses and doctors were summoned from surrounding cities to help care for the injured. The bus and car rolled off the end of a bridge and down a 25-foot ravine after the accident. A housetrailer, which was being pulled by the car, came uncoupled and remained on the bridge.

Held to Jury Under Bond Of $15,000

Paul Edwin Holycross Committed to Jail on Arraignment in Court

Paul Edwin Holycross pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Thursday afternoon to 10 counts of arson and attempted arson. Acting Judge Edwin Mitchell bound him over to the Marion County Grand Jury and set bond at $15,000.

The 18-year-old Marion youth had confessed earlier in the day to setting the series of industrial building fires in Marion which caused damage of $227,000, according to Police Chief Tom Coon.

The 10 counts were sworn out in three affidavits by C. R. LaMonda of Marion, arson investigator for the state fire marshal.

They charged Holycross with attempting to set fire to the Marion Power Shovel Co. farm Wednesday night; and the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer Co. on June 27; and with setting fire to and burning the Erie Railroad Freight House on June 15; the Farm Bureau Association elevator storage building on June 26; the Marion Iron and Metal Co. on July 15; and with willfully, unlawfully, and maliciously burning wood, boards, lumber and packing material of the Marion Power Shovel Co. on June 26; property of the Erie Railroad on June 15; the factory of the Betty Zane Popcorn Co. on June 15; stored grain of the Farm Bureau Association on June 26; and personal property of the Marion Iron and Metal Co. on July 15.

Jury to Meet Wednesday

The Marion County grand jury is expected to meet next Wednesday. Holycross was taken to the county jail after he pleaded guilty at his arraignment Thursday afternoon.

Holycross was arrested Wednesday afternoon at 5:40 after he was seen trying to start a fire at the Marion Power Shovel Co. farm. A watchman, Charles Tanner, of 124½ Forest Lawn Blvd., called police captain George H. Manley who located Holycross through Tanner's description.

Under questioning, Holycross admitted he had set the series of fires, Police Chief Tom Coon said.

He told investigators that he did it "just to have something to do."

He told his questioners that he never stayed to watch his handiwork, but would watch the fire engines go to the scene of the blazes.

Long Investigation

The capture of Holycross brought to a climax more than six weeks of investigation by the police department, the fire department, and the state fire marshal's office. Heads of all three departments said that the capture of Holycross would not have been possible without the cooperation which was evident among the three groups.

Holycross, who is 18, lives at 429 Waterloo St.

Group Furthering Plans For Airport Dedication

Further details of the dedication plans for Municipal Airport were announced today by the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee.

The dedication will take place on Sunday, Aug. 16. The program will begin at 7 in the morning when the Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a breakfast flight. Invitations have been mailed to almost every airport in a 250 mile radius, including those in Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Michigan.

The breakfast committee, consisting of Joseph Drake, Carl Mounts, and Grant Fletcher, expects about 200 private pilots to fly to Marion to participate in this affair.

Lake Central Airlines will participate in the event by having one of their 21 passenger airplanes on display from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Visitors will be permitted to examine the inside of the ship. A regular crew will be on hand to answer any questions concerning the operations of the DC-3.

Afternoon Program

In the afternoon, the ceremonies are scheduled to begin with a band concert at 2. Several bands throughout the city have been asked to play at the dedication.

The National Anthem is scheduled to be played at 2:30 with flag raising ceremonies. Joseph Drake, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce airport dedication committee, will be master of ceremonies.

Harry Dowler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, will give a speech outlining the history of the airport. He will be followed by Ralph Forrest, city safety service director, who will explain the operation of the airport.

Dedication Speech

Mayor Harold Robinson will then make the dedication speech. The program is being arranged by city officials, and the Chamber and Junior Chamber committees.

The airport was authorized on Aug. 22, 1945, when City Council approved placing a $400,000 bond issue on the ballot. In November of the same year, the voters approved the bond issue, and four months later, engineers were hired to draw plans for the airport.

It was not until Aug. 30, 1948, nearly three years after the first plans were put into motion, that the bids for construction were awarded to William H. Ringwald and Sons of Chillicothe, contractors for the job.

On Oct. 14, 1948, the first ground was broken and actual work was begun. A completion date of Nov. 1, 1949 had been set, but due to bad weather, and construction difficulties, was moved back three times. Finally on Sept. 1, 1950, the airport was completed and opened for business.

The total cost of the airport was $665,384.

Boy Who Set Fire In Galion Punished

Special to The Star

GALION—A 16-year-old Galion boy, who admitted setting fire to the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Gugler last week, will be sent to a private corrective school for a year or longer on charges of delinquency.

The decision was reached by Juvenile Judge Constance Keller and the boy's parents at a hearing in Bucyrus Thursday morning. It was decided to send the youth to a private home rather than to Lancaster Boys' Industrial School.

Until the boy is sent to an institution, he will be in restricted custody, which requires an adult to be with him at all times away from his home.

The boy claimed the fire which destroyed the $4,500 cottage last week was started accidentally by him when he struck two match sticks together. He said he entered the cottage to look for cigarets.

Assistant State Fire Marshal Tom Finch of Green Camp in cooperation with the Galion Fire Department and Gugler, who investigated the fire, said the blaze was set.

Judge Keller said illegal entry was made to the Gugler property and that the boy was guilty of delinquency. Arrangements will be made for placing him in a private school within a week.

Final Session Today

12 Vetoes Stud Agenda As Assembly Reconvenes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 100th Ohio General Assembly puts the finishing touches on its session today. Most of the important action will be on 12 bills vetoed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

This is the last day of the regular session of the Republican-controlled Legislature. Final adjournment will come tonight when all loose ends are tied up.

One of the most significant developments today will be the Legislature's failure to act on a proposal to change Ohio's election laws to provide for a quick special election to name a successor to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The leaders of both legislative houses decided yesterday in a huddle with State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss to drop the proposal. It will not even be introduced.

Their decision let stand the present state law. Under that law, Lausche, a Democrat, will appoint "Mr. Republican's" successor. An election in 1954 will fill the last two years of Taft's unexpired term.

Three standout bills vetoed by Lausche are expected to get most attention today. These would:

Distribute the highway department's 12 - million-dollar-a - year maintenance fund among cities, counties and townships to help

Can Use Present Sets

New Compatible Color TV System Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission announced today it proposes a new compatible color television system which can be tuned in on existing receivers.

The new color plan is sponsored by the National Television System Committee, a technical group representing virtually all segments of the telecasting industry, which has been studying the color problem for more than three years.

The committee recently asked the FCC to adopt its color standards as the uniform standards for all color casting. Many of the leading set manufacturers joined in asking for such approval.

The commission noted today, in announcing a proposed approval, that no opposition to the NTSC plan has developed from any source.

If the committee's color system should be finally sanctioned by FCC for commercial use, it would throw out the Columbia Broadcasting System's color broadcasting technique which FCC approved on an exclusive basis in 1950.

The CBS system cannot be received on existing sets without conversion. The new one would show up on present sets in black and white.

Truman Writes On How It Feels To Be Ordinary Citizen

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Truman has written a series of five articles on "What It Is Like to Become an Ordinary Citizen" for publication in the American Weekly beginning Sept. 20.

The magazine, a Sunday supplement to 12 Hearst and 13 other newspapers, released this statement by Truman:

"I'm now in the process of becoming a member of the community where I was raised after nearly eight years in the White House. I suddenly find myself right back where I started in Independence, Mo.

"It occurred to me that if a man who has been president would just sit down and tell as simply as he could what it is like to become an ordinary citizen again, perhaps a better understanding of the responsibilities of being an ordinary citizen might be brought home to his countrymen.

"Many people do not stop to think what happens to a man who has been president. We believe that anybody can be president of the United States, and that when he is through, he can go back to being just anybody again. This procedure is so firmly fixed in our traditions that we do not give it a second thought. I can't say that I feel exactly that way about it, but I admit that I may be somewhat prejudiced."

Reviews First Half-Year

Ike Is Modest, Careful In His Report to Nation

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) President Eisenhower's radio report to the nation last night on the first half-year of his administration was a pretty modest appraisal, and a very careful one.

He took some cracks at the Democrats, but not by name. He aimed his criticism at the Truman administration, not at the Democrats in the present Congress. For them he had words of praise.

In listing what he considered the accomplishments of his administration Eisenhower did not try to grab exclusive Republican credit for what was done by Congress, where the Republicans had control by the slimmest of margins.

Any time a few Republicans voted against one of his programs in Congress it was sentenced to death unless enough Democrats teamed up on his side to carry the day for him.

He praised the Democrats for their cooperation with him, indirectly, by repeated use of the word "unity." For example, in mentioning the lop-sided Senate vote, 69-10, for the foreign aid program, he said:

It "signifies an unprecedented unity that crosses party lines . . ." Again, in patting Congress on the back for simplifying customs regulations and extending the reciprocal trade program, he said: "These actions again testify to that growing unity of opinion which rises above party lines."

This was strictly in keeping with the policy he laid down for himself from the beginning in dealing with the lawmakers: avoid criticism and try for peace and harmony between Congress and the executive branch.

As a practical political matter, the Democrats probably would have been on his neck today if he had sought to make the work of Congress in 1953 look one-sidedly Republican.

Right after Congress this week put up the shutters for the year, the Democratic leader in the Senate, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, publicly reminded the Republicans of the part the Democrats had played in helping Eisenhower.

Johnson said "practically every major item of the President's program" had been supported by the Democrats and that much of it "could not have been passed without the Democrats."

By this careful handling of the congressional Democrats last night, Eisenhower not only reduced to a minimum any chance they might have for being critical of him today but left the way clear for similar good relations next year.

Next year though, should put to a strenuous test any hope he may have now that his peaceful dealings with Congress can go on indefinitely, particularly with the Democrats. It's a congressional election year.

Eisenhower showed less restraint in the parts of his talk dealing with the Truman administration, although he did not mention it by name, either. He implied he inherited from Presisent Truman a big mess, for he said:

"The repair and reorganization of so huge a piece of political machinery as the United States government is a colossal undertaking." He explained some of what he meant:

There were still some security risks in the government when he took over and they had to be cleaned out, along with "some incompetents," and "too many people" on the payroll. And there was implied blame of the 20 years of Democratic administration for the size of the public debt.

After citing the things done by his administration, Eisenhower said:

"They all total—I repeat—only a little more than a beginning. I know of no official of this administration so foolish as to believe that we, who in January came to Washington, have seen and conquered all the problems of our nation.

"The future, both immediate and distant, remains full of trial and hazard."

NEW LOOK. The new Paris short-length skirt is worn to advantage by movie actress Anne Baxter on her arrival at Idlewild Airport in New York City from an European trip. The screen star's outfit, a Christian Dior creation, is a dark gray wool suit with the designer's new "just-below-knee" skirt length. Asked whether other women will take to the new style, Miss Baxter replied that it "depends on what their legs look like."

New Cloth Printing Process Proves Sensational!

ANOTHER FIRST FOR FRANKS!

Cloth Print Draperies

Block tone printing as the name implies, simulates hand blocking at an astonishing degree. Colors are deep and opaque, and the attractive off-register effects of typical hand screening can be seen. The features of the draperies are as follows: they are 45 inches wide by 90 inches long, with a 25 inch pinch pleated washable heading, blind stitched side and bottom hems and are completely washable.

Impervious to sun and fading, proven tests under the faometer for 80 hours as compared to the average 40 hour tests proved this point. Washed in 160 degree water proved no change in color after five washings.

They come in a heavy rayon and acetate slubbed faille. An acetate filling stabilizes the draperies and reduces the shrinkage to 2 percent. They have been registered with the United States Patent Office.

Each of the patterns contains up to 12 glowing colors, absolutely washable and sun resistant. Workmanship is of the finest from the fully sewn pinch- pleated headings to the generous blind-stitched hems.

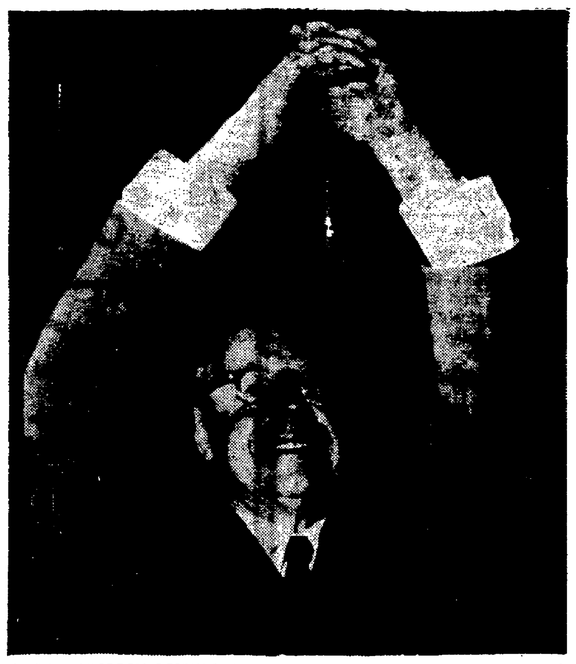
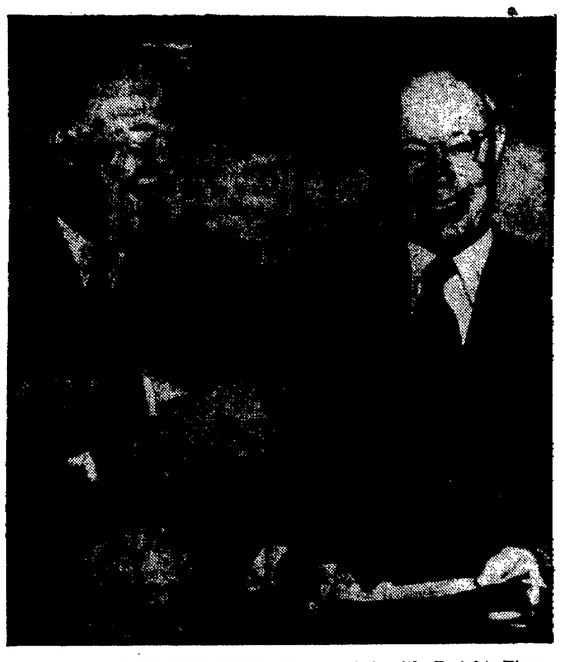
Taft's Life in Pictures (No. 6)

Campaigning

A SEVERE CRITIC of national spending, Senator Taft smiles over the massive volume of the Federal budget. In 1950 he advocated pay-as-you-go financing, which would include control of private credit, reduced cost of national government and taxation to cover expenditures.



WITH A VICTORY GESTURE, Senator Taft in October, 1951, announced that he was a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination. His confidence was inspired by the so-called "Taft miracle," which returned him to the Senate from Ohio by a 430,000 majority in 1950.



AFTER THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION ended with Dwight Eisenhower the victor, the campaign rivals got together, mended their differences and went to work for the team. Until illness forced him to give it up, Taft ran administration show as majority leader.

Boys and Girl in County Win 'Chicken of Tomorrow' Contest

The first four places in a district "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest for boys and girls were won by Marion County 4-H and FFA members, it was announced today.

First place in the district was won by Paul Trihaft of LaRue. He will be a senior this fall in LaRue High School.

The other top winners were David Moyer of near Prospect, second, and his sister Janet, third and fourth. She submitted two entries. Altogether, there were 15 entries by 13 youths in the county.

Under the rules of the contest, each youth bought 100 chickens from a commercial hatchery in the spring. These chicks were then banded and a record of the amount of feed given the flock was kept.

About one week before the end of the contest, the Agricultural Extension Service officials went to each farm and weighed the entire flock of birds. The youths then sent their ten best chickens to Columbus, where the birds were killed and dressed, weighed and judged.

The winners were selected by comparing the weights of the birds before and after killing and dressing.

Each of the contestants received a ribbon, and the first three winners were given trophies.

Trihaft's chickens were the Pureline X Ketay variety.

They were fed an average of 2.8 pounds of feed during the period when they were under the boy's care. He reported no deaths among his flock. The total weight of the 100 chickens he purchased for the contest was 358 pounds. Of these 100, he was allowed to enter the ten heaviest. The dressed weight of these birds was 35½ pounds. Trihaft's father, W. B. Trihaft, operates a farm near LaRue.

David Moyer and his sister Janet took second and third prizes respectively. David, who will be a junior at Pleasant School, won the second place honors with his White Rock chickens, Janet was awarded third place for her Van Tress chickens. Janet's White Rock chickens took fourth place.

The Moyer children's father is D. D. Moyer, an expert in the poultry department of the Agricultural Extension Service at Ohio State University.

Proves Good Story Will Draw

Film Producer Meets Challenge of 3-D

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hollywood is in the gimmick stage at present in its efforts to make the American public forget television.

Have you tried any of the new three-dimensional, wide-screened, technicolored popcorn with the built-in stereoscopic sound effects? A trip to Bermuda and a free life insurance policy with every box!

Seen any of those 3D films lately? It is like having a "chamber of horrors" dumped in your lap. Roller coasters reel toward you, snakes lash out from the screen at you, and when an actor throws a knife you can feel it sink into your own forehead. Man, you don't just see those pictures. You are in them. But you don't get paid.

The Hollywood motto seems to be:

"If you can't entertain 'em — startle 'em."

Therefore, it is pleasant to chronicle a strange experiment just completed by producer Buddy Adler. Adler's unusual idea was to take the best story plot he could find, pick a good cast, and film it in just plain old-fashioned, two-dimensional black and white.

Well, 19 months and three million dollars later, Adler came up with "From Here to Eternity," one of 1953's big hits and a candidate for filmdom's all-time top 10 box office draws. And there isn't a new-fangled gimmick in the picture.

"You don't need gimmicks to get realism," said Adler.

Nearly two years ago he became interested in James Jones' best selling novel of professional Army life in Hawaii on the eve of Pearl Harbor.

"It had been turned down by every major studio," he said. "It was raw and violent, and I support most studios were afraid they wouldn't be able to get the Army's cooperation in filming it."

Adler thought that because of its many turndowns he could buy the movie rights for $10,000 or $15,000. But the price tag was $82,000. President Harry Cohn of Columbia Pictures read a summary of the story and said:

"Buy it."

That left Adler $82,000 in the hole, and no assurance the Army would give him the help he needed to make the picture the way he wanted. It took months to win the Army's approval.

Adler figured the total cost of the film would be three million, one of the largest budgets for any black and white film.

"Go ahead," Cohn told him. Adler, one of those rare producers who don't believe the "front office" spends its whole time stifling genius, said:

"I'm grateful to him for that. You know you can make a three million dollar picture and end up with a five million loss.

"The only thing I gamble with is my brain. He gambled with money. If the picture had flopped, I'd still have my mentality — well, most of it — but his money would be down the drain."

Adler also credited Cohn for picking Frank Sinatra for a top dramatic role, one in which Frankie doesn't sing a note.

"I was against that at first," Adler admitted, "but we flew Sinatra from Africa to make a test, and I was sold at first sight."

The film was shot in 60 days, much of it on the scene in Hawaiian Army barracks. Adler is hopeful it will outdraw the same studio's "Jolson Story," which grossed more than eight million to become one of the industry's gilded 10 greatest gold mines.

"You can't sell the public on gimmicks alone," said Adler. "Shakespeare was right. 'The play's the thing.' If you don't have a good story to tell, you have nothing."

That's kind of a revolutionary idea, but if it spreads movie theaters won't have to depend so much on popcorn to turn a profit.

Clevelander Rescued After Trench Caves In

CLEVELAND (AP)—A cave-in buried a man for 10 minutes under five feet of dirt here yesterday, but he survived because quick-thinking rescuers piped oxygen to him.

The walls of a 12-foot deep sewer ditch collapsed and buried Wellington Wilson, 44, a workman.

Fellow workmen dug a hole to Wilson's mouth and Dr. Stephen Sheppard of nearby Bay View Hospital piped oxygen to him as the others dug him free.

Wilson was taken to the hospital in serious condition.

Bury Me in Blue Suit, Youth Requests Sister

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A 15-year-old high school student, who told his sister to "bury me in a blue suit," died yesterday of a gunshot wound which police said was self inflicted.

Police said the sister, Janet, 13, told them she was hanging out clothing in the yard when her brother stuck his head out the window and yelled to her.

"I'll be dead in a few minutes, so bury me in a blue suit," he said. She found him unconscious on the floor of his bedroom.

CHERRY GROVE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—Two small boys, forbidden by their mother to buy firecrackers, were caught with the goods when they returned from the grocery store.

That night while cooking supper she noticed some mosquitoes. She put the smoke bomb on the table, lit it and casually walked away.

Responsibility Never Rests

Apropos of vacations, especially presidential vacations, they are all the same.

The difference between time off from a manual job in a factory and time off from the job of being chief executive of the United States is obvious, or should be.

The president of this republic serves his people every second of his term of office, wherever he happens to be. He is on duty every minute of every day. He must receive information and prepare decisions. Responsibility never rests.

Yet, as part of the same savagery in politics used in relentless efforts to destroy the late Sen. Taft, the political hatchet men of the CIO are keeping track of President Eisenhower's time away from the White House.

They are trying to make it appear he is scamping his job when he leaves the surcharged atmosphere of Washington occasionally to get a change of scenery and to enjoy himself at his favorite sport of golf.

With rare exceptions, it now is granted that American workers are entitled to a limited work week of 40 hours or less. Since that is less than one fourth of the 168 hours each week that a president is on call, it is with bad grace that any union organization questions the handling of one of the world's hardest jobs.

Revolutionists Will Know

The visible unrest in East Germany which is making it impossible for the Communists to enforce their own rules could be the beginning of major trouble. Or it could be no more than a symptom of the kind of a problem any police state can expect from time to time.

The curious thing about this sort of thing in the 20th century is that the world's only experts in revolution are the same people responsible for putting down whatever revolutions may erupt in Russia's satellite states.

When and if they do erupt, the revolutionists will know when they are serious. They have made a study of ways and means of stirring up unrest, until it finally explodes against authority and shatters all the rules and regulations.

Would-be revolutionists from all over the world have flocked to Moscow in the last generation to study the bloody art of revolution in the Lenin Institute. They have learned everything that can be reduced to a formula, from rumor-planting to grabbing the bridle of the mounted policeman's horse in a street skirmish.

When real revolution begins and the angry crowds mill and murmur, the experts will know what is happening. It is a thought for these times that they will be the first to know that their own days are numbered and may die with the secret.

While Byrnes Burned

South Carolina Gov. Byrnes' good-natured speech at the Seattle Governors Conference about the new two-party South recall some memorable scenes in the 1952 Democratic convention.

One in particular was highlighted by a fire that broke out on the floor of the convention hall while Gov. Byrnes was defying the party steamroller. It was symbolic of the hot and angry men who were fighting for control of the Democratic party.

Gov. Byrnes, leader of the southern revolt against the politicians who controlled the Democratic convention in 1952, is no longer burning. In 1953 he knows what he could only guess in 1952—that millions of fellow Democrats in the once-Solid South are with him in his revolt against the Democrats who dictated the nomination of Adlai Stevenson. And in 1953 the revolt is more significant, because it must be dealt with now as a fact, not a possibility.

Dwight Eisenhower carried Texas last November. He almost carried South Carolina. He made a strong showing in Mississippi. He swept Florida. In Louisiana, he gave the Democratic candidate a run for his money. He ran surprisingly well in Alabama.

There is no Solid South any more. That was what Gov. Byrnes was trying to tell the Democrats a year ago. He was given the special treatment reserved for politicians who tell other politicians what they don't want to hear.

He can be forgiven for remembering at Seattle with a good-natured chuckle that he was right and the boys who gave him the bums' rush were wrong. It's their problem now, not his.

Men? Mice?

Speaking for 50 million men in the United States, minus a minority of women's wear retailers, this is to say that a fellow named Christian Dior had better not show his face in these parts.

He is the one who started this ruckus about short skirts for women. By trade a designer, Dior apparently is a mischief-maker by avocation. His like has been with us a long time.

This Dior — and what does he have against us husbands? — insists skirts must start another of those ghastly shortening processe that eventually take them above the knee. When they start back down again, every female and her sister must have a brand new wardrobe to reflect the new look.

Why does Christian Dior, whoever he is, hate husbands?

Appraisal of Congress

By David Lawrence

State Socialism Trend Halted But Not Reversed

Appraisals of the 83rd Congress are being made on every side—by the partisans particularly.

Neither the Republican appraisal that this was a great Congress—a Congress of achievement which matched the first six months of the FDR administration—nor the Democratic appraisal that the Republicans did little or nothing except with the help of the minority is really a fair or correct size-up.

The truth is that the Congress which has just ended merely held the line. It kept the American economic and fiscal situation from disintegrating further.

It can be likened to the stopping of a fire, but this doesn't mean the structure has been rebuilt or will look the same when it is reconstructed.

Most of the policies embodied in the legislation passed by the 83rd Congress were extensions of or a continuation of the acts of the Democratic administrations of the last 20 years.

The spending was almost along the same line and for virtually the same purposes as before.

The same Reciprocal Trade Act as has been on the statute books was extended.

The same excess-profits-tax law, which everybody denounces, was retained and the cut in personal income taxes due next January was, of course, legislated by the Democrats.

The real reason why the Democratic party cooperated in Congress was because it couldn't do otherwise. There was nothing high-minded or bipartisan about it.

The Democrats could hardly repudiate their own record by voting against policies they had initiated.

It can be argued with some merit that they could have aided far more by insisting on cuts in the Republicans and the country the spending. But, with a narrow margin, the Republicans themselves could take no chances on the frustration of the whole program if the Democrats were going to insist on voting for higher expenditures.

Certainly a coalition of Republican and Democratic spenders would have been difficult to beat without cooperation between the Republican and Democratic leaders.

The two parties evidently didn't have a sufficiently strong alliance to cut the big appropriations down.

The most charitable thing that can be said about the whole situation is that an inexperienced President and Cabinet came into power, surveyed the "mess" that had been made of the fiscal situation in the last 20 years, and found that it couldn't be cleaned up in six months.

The alternative was to hold the line, make some cuts, and hope that the next session of Congress would see further cuts.

Raising of the debt limit can become a major issue. It may symbolize a determined effort to cut spending if the limit isn't raised or it may signify an indefinite spending policy of the limit is raised.

The sensible thing for the administration to do is to get at the budget figures between now and next January and come up with a program that shows a balance for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, so that no raising of the debt limit will be necessary expect for a few months.

A debt-limit raise confined to a few months would not be difficult to get through Congress and would act as a deterrent against more spending.

No one can expect miracles from any new administration in its first six months.

The habit of looking to Congress to pass a lot of reform laws still persists. The New Deal and Fair Deal psychology is still deeply ingrained here.

The fact that Congress didn't reform the entire social structure and give it a further push toward state socialism is lamented by the disciples of the New Deal and Fair Deal.

The failure to transform the country into the kind of economic utopia envisioned by some Republicans, after reading a few of the ultra-Republican campaign speeches of Gen. Eisenhower, will bring its disappointments in some quarters.

On the whole, the Republicans in Congress came out better than anyone who is experienced in the crosscurrents of legislative maelstorms really believed possible.

It was a hold-the-line Congress or, to switch metaphors, a Congress that stopped the ship from sinking. But the holes are by no means plugged and water is still coming in and will have to be bailed out to keep aloat.

Higher Education in Ohio

By DR. GEORGE A. BOWMAN
President, Kent State University

This letter by Dr. Bowman expresses his point of view on state-supported higher education in Ohio. The editorial to which he refers said Ohio State University, Kent State University, Bowling Green University, Miami University, Ohio University and Central State College accounted for about $60 million in Ohio's $836 million budget for the biennium. The editorial declared this level of support for higher education had not been thought out carefully—that Topsy-like it had "just grown."

Dr. Bowman is former Superintendent of Marion City Schools.

To The Star: The editorial titled "Billion-Dollar Budget For Ohio" seemed to go out of its way to cast unfavorable reflection on the Ohio program of higher education and the methods used to finance public schools.

This is so inconsistent with what I have always been confident to be the policy and attitude of the Brush-Moore Newspapers toward public education that it was quite a shock to me to discover in this editorial a point of view which will, inescapably, be damaging to both the schools and universities.

I shall not attempt to write you more than comments, which, I hope, will reveal why I am greatly disturbed over this editorial.

In the first place, the implications are that budgets for higher education are comparable in size to both the public school subsidy and the welfare appropriations. The appropriations for the state universities are, in round numbers, $58 million for the two-year period, which is about seven per cent of the total budget.

However, since about 20 per cent of this amount is raised by the universities themselves through tuition charges, the actual charge against state funds is only about $47 million. This fact is so often overlooked when comparisons are made of state university budgets and other state enterprises such as welfare, highways, public school subsidies etc. which are wholly a charge against state income. Why you ignore the highway appropriations, which are about 2½ times the appropriations for higher education, is not clear to me. (This appropriation is about $125 million. The millions of federal funds to supplement state funds for highways should not be overlooked either.)

The implication that the state universities provide lobbying agents to seek the best deals for their respective institutions is most misleading. I have not been in contact with the legislature during this entire legislative session nor have I had anyone representing me there, except when we have been called to appear before legislative committees or administrative officers of the state government.

I cannot speak for the other institutions, but I am sure they follow the same policy. The state universities, however, do not go into the legislature fighting one another.

More than a decade ago there was organized what is called the Inter-University Council of the State Universities of Ohio. This is a voluntary organization and has no legal status. This council holds many meetings previous to a legislative session, and agreements are made as to the budget for each institution. Any efforts to be made with the legislature are made for the whole group.

There is no organization other than this back of the state universities. Contrast this with the Ohio Education Association. I have been present at hearings on other budgets when the hearing rooms were packed with proponents. I have never seen as many as a half dozen people other than newspaper reporters at any hearing on state university budgets.

There are no earmarked taxes for higher education, such as those which exist, for example, for the highway department. We are entirely dependent upon the good will of the legislature.

My experience has been (for nearly 10 years now) that we don't have too many friends in the legislature. This is probably our own fault, because we haven't interpreted to the public as accurately and in the manner we should the tremendously vital service the state universities render this great state.

Whether or not Ohio is spending too much or too little on higher education, I do not feel competent to judge. I have faith in the values we are trying to preserve. I know that the states bordering Ohio have been much more generous in support of higher education than has Ohio. The importance of higher education to the system of government which was established by our founding fathers was clearly envisioned by them.

Before Ohio was a state, the commissioners of the Northwest Territory established the first institution of higher education at Athens, Ohio, in about 1802. A year after Ohio was admitted into the Union, the first legislature reestablished this institution as Ohio University at Athens, in 1804.

Soon Miami University was founded in 1809. Ohio State University was not founded until 1870, and then as an agricultural and mechanic arts institution under the Morrill Act. It was not until 1910 that any effort in higher education was attempted north of Columbus.

In that year the establishment of normal schools, one in northeastern Ohio and one in northwestern Ohio, was authorized by the state legislature. These soon developed into comprehensive institutions, including four-year teachers colleges, colleges of commerce, colleges of arts and sciences and graduate schools.

Maybe unwittingly, and not consciously planned, the locations of Ohio's highest educational institutions are quite ideal. Ohio State University is near the center of the state; Miami, southwest; Ohio University, southeast; Bowling Green, northwest; and Kent State University in Northeastern Ohio. The geographical location and types of institutions which have been developed in Ohio are the envy of most of our states. It is anything but a "Topsy-like" pattern.

One-Man Crusade Against Hate

By Edward Nellor

From time to time, in the past year, in the major newspapers across the nation, full-page advertisements have appeared, usually on Sundays, carrying religious messages but no other sales appeal.

The advertisements, signed by a Washington resident, named Leon Ackerman, a sturdy, graying real-estate broker, sees nothing unusual in spending thousands of dollars in a simple appeal to the American people to return to religion.

At first he did not even sign his name to the full-page appeals, but newsrooms across the nation, and the Post Office Department were flooded with demands that the individual responsible for the messages be identified.

Ackerman agreed and now handles all correspondence relating to the advertisements.

Reticent concerning his religious appeals, Ackerman has confined his public discussion to editors of religious newspapers and magazines.

He has rejected appeals from national magazines which seek to learn the nature of a man willing to spend thousands of dollars for something not related to his business.

One of the recent full-page advertisements contained the following heading: "Love. . . the greatest gift. He who understands love understands God, for God is love."

In addition there was a verse from 1 Cor. Chapter 13, Verses 1, 2, 3 and 13.

Ackerman also uses another theme in his newspaper appeals and that is that "If you hate your brother, whom you have seen, how can you love God whom you have not seen?"

In discussing his unusual method of advertising God, Ackerman says that he believes the country needs to be religiously aroused.

His office secretaries describe him as a businessman who believes in advertising God instead of goods, and this description appears to fit him perfectly.

For a deeply religious man, Ackerman states that he felt the need for expressing his views concerning a greater life after death, and that he chose the media of newspaper advertising as the method of reaching the largest number of people.

Asked how much the advertisements, which appear from coast to coast, have cost in the past year., he informed the reporter that he did not know and "didn't want to know."

"I hope people won't consider the cost, simply the message," he said.

His office staff said that they had only heard him answer one question regarding the cost, and that was a statement that it "amounted to thousands and thousands of dollars."

Unlike many business concerns using institutional appeals, Ackerman does not deduct the cost of the religious advertisements from his income-tax returns.

He considers the appeals a personal matter that have nothing to do with the real-estate operations in which he engages.

Ackerman is a major real-estate operator in Washington and the near-by areas. His best known, and current, project, is Ocean Beach, a development in Maryland that is growing rapidly into a large summer-resort area.

Deeply tanned, with a steel-gray moustache, Ackerman is considered handsome by his office aides. He is patient in his mannerisms, good-humored, but purposeful in bearing.

A recent tragedy, the loss of his son in a private airplane accident, made no outward appearance in his demeanor, those who know him best relate.

He spent several sleepless days and nights until his son's body was recovered from bay waters near Washington. The son, active in his father's business, perished with his fiancee and another youthful couple.

Reluctant to discuss the details of his unusual religious activity, Ackerman has prepared a brochure that explains why he has adopted this novel method of appealing to the better side of his fellow citizens.

He has a separate office staff for handling mail pertaining to the advertisements and it is here that the impact of his efforts are most appreciated.

To a man and woman, those on the pay roll aiding him in spreading the gospel by modern methods state simply that "He is a good man, trying to do good in a tired world."

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: On the afternoon of the day they were saying goodby to Sen. Taft in that little church in Cincinnati, I stopped in to talk with Sam Hurlihy on my way home from the postoffice. He's the one who used to give you a bag of candy when you and I would go into his grocery store. Sam got out of the grocery business when the supermarket came in and did all right in farm machinery until all the farmers around here got mechanized. Then he retired to think things over.

I had noticed on the way into town that the flag on the Hurlihy flagpole was at half mast. Knowing Sam was a Democrat by birth and experience, I wanted to know more about this gesture of respect for a Republican.

Sam got out some of his blackberry cordial and we worked our way around to my particular reason, if any, for being there. I mentioned the flag.

Sam said he figured it would excite some curiosity and was glad to explain. It had nothing to do with politics, he pointed out. The flag was at half mast because he wanted to show his respect for personality, not a politician.

He says we have been getting the cart in front of the horse, because we have been paying a premium for trimmers and discounting strong personalities in politics. Consequently, we are getting too many trimmers and not enough personalities. even though we neither want nor need the former.

He thinks the president of Korea who doesn't know how to use soft soap, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee who won't pretend he likes to be told what to do, and all the attention that has been given similar qualities in Sen. Taft may start a fad.

People may start to say what they think, instead of saying what they think other people want them to think. What a difference that would make!

I could tell you I think your choice in neckties is a shame and a disgrace. I could tell you I think you are a reckless driver. I could tell you I think your libations are too weak and your prejudices are too strong.

As a matter of fact, I have told you. We've always told each other these things, haven't we? That is what Sam Hurlihy was talking about. If everybody would be true to himself, this would be a better world.

There would be less, not more, misunderstandings. Hypocrisy would disappear. So would apple-polishing, coddling and back-scratching — all standard ways of trying to put a better face on things than they would bear if viewed in their true light.

Sam Hurlihy and I had a real good talk. We parted as cordially as the cordial itself. He told me he thought I was wrong about "true Republicanism," and I told him he had been played for a sucker — in my judgment — by the "true Democrats."

But we could agree that Sen. Taft had given his countrymen a mighty fine demonstration of how tall a man can grow in the estimation of his fellowmen when he stands firmly on his own feet and thinks high. We could think of half a dozen things he had said that we thought were wrong, but that didn't matter. We respected him more when we disagreed with him than we respect trimmers when they are accidentally right.

I felt real good about the chances of the republic on the way home, so I stopped at Mowen's and took home a quart of ice cream for supper to celebrate. Your aunt thought I was trying to cover up for the cordial.

Convey my regards to the family as usual.

Shrink-Proof Wool

NEW YORK (AP)—Shrink-proof wool has been developed by an Australian research group, the Australian Information Service here says. At least one license to a woolen mill has been granted. The process will be developed in other commercial plants, the announcement says. The new process treats the wool with a resin, but the Australians say that it does not change the normal qualities of the wool.

The Once Over

Agenda for Korean Peace

It is this column's prediction that the coming U.N. session on Korea will run something like this:

1.—The meeting of the General Assembly will be preceded by a roll call of the interpreters and a check to see if all have shown up and are fit and ready for the new ordeal.

The chair will call the meeting to order, suggesting that all members wear iron helmets and volunteer to serve for the duration of the peace talks.

2—A proposal that delegates refrain from digging trenches or dugouts in the floors and walls of the meeting hall will be made and tabled.

3—The chair will explain that the purpose of the session is to reach an agreement on a peaceful settlement in Korea.

The words "peaceful settlement" will not be out of his mouth before a hostile mood will settle over the premises.

4—Meeting will be interrupted by word that all but two on the staff employed to convey complaints of truce violations from the Commies have broken down, and that it will be necessary to employ mule trains.

5—There will be word that the Polish and Czech members of the "neutral commission" in Korea have opened combat with the Swiss and Swedish members.

Russia will claim that the Swedes and Swiss entered Korea illegally as tools of Wall Street.

6—Things will look bad, but the Indian delegation will urge patience and suggest the naming of a neutral board to investigate the neutral board.

7—Britain will express extreme annoyance at the way the proceedings are holding up British trade with the enemy.

8—Somebody will notice that the 90-day period has just about elapsed during the debates so far.

The Commies will deny anything was ever said about 90 days.

Russia will again demand that Red China be seated or the whole peace negotiations be called on account of darkness. The darkness will be attributed to imperialism.

9—It will be found that so many complaints of truce violations have come in from the Commies that U.N. has had to lease the basement of Madison Square Garden to file the allegations.

10—Moscow will propose that every meeting be opened with a half-hour's excoriation of Dr. Rhee, the Polish delegate, and will press a resolution that President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles be tried as war criminals.

11—Britian will hint that the U.S. goes too far when it stands firmly for the U.N. pledges, for a united Korea, for promises to Dr. Rhee and for anything that will hurt business.

There will be word from Korea that the battle between the Polish and Czech members of the neutral commission and the other members is getting hotter and that both sides are asking for air cover.

12—There will be overwhelming evidence that the Chinese have built new airfields, developed radar stations, etc., and haven't missed a bet in getting the jump in the next outbreak of hostilities.

Mr. Vishinsky will arrive with a four-hour explanation that not a thing has been built on Korean airfields except hot-dog stands.

13—Somebody will discover that it is January, 1954, with a peace still in the oxygen tent.

The chairman hoping for an agreement on what month it is, will ask for a vote confirming the calendar. There will be 32 abstentions.

India will propose a commission to determine whether it is January or February.

14—Hollywood will make an offer for the film rights instead of going abroad for a contemplated war picture.

Eye Federal Co-operation

Governors' Conference Closes on Happy Note

SEATTLE (AP)—The National Governors' conference came to a close amidst talk of a bright new era of federal-state teamwork and action in defense of the United Nations.

Overwhelming defeat of what Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York criticized as an anti-U. N. resolution marked the only flareup of the state executives' annual get-together. The five-day meeting ended yesterday.

Gov. Dan Thornton, Colorado Republican and a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower, was elected conference chairman. He succeeds Gov. Allan Shivers, Texas Democrat.

Informal discussion placed New Orleans as the best bet for landing the 1954 conference. There was some mention, however, of going to New England. The site city will be selected later in the year.

Thornton said in an interview: "We are all pleased that the President has shown his willingness to help the states get back some of their lost powers and we will do everything possible in the next year to advance that course."

Eisenhower flew here Monday to reassert his offer to try and relieve sources of irritation between the states and Washington. Thornton said that so far as he is concerned the governors will offer wholehearted support to the President in carrying out his program.

The governors went behind closed doors to reject two resolutions by Gov. J. Bracken Lee, Utah Republican, questioning the scope of American participation in the United Nations.

Lee, a critic of the administration on both foreign and domestic policies, said he alone voted for the resolutions. Most of the 42 state and three territorial governors at this 45th annual conference sat in on the reportedly sharp debate.

One of the resolutions called for an investigation to determine "our liabilities and privileges" in the world organization. Lee proposed that the study be made by a commission consisting only of members "fully cleared of any and all charges of anti-Americanism." He said beforehand he wanted to find out whether there is anything in the U. N. Charter which violates the U. S. Constitution.

The other defeated measure urged that all member nations be required to contribute military forces for the U. N. police force in direct proportion to their population.

2,000 Bluegills Placed in Lake

Marion youths may have a top-flight fishing hole within the city limits next year if plans started Thursday are successful.

Some 2,000 bluegills were placed in McKinley Lake at the south edge of Marion Thursday by Irvin Knickel of near Prospect, who operates the Knickel Minnow Hatchery. The bluegills were damaging his minnows and Knickel removed them from his ponds and received permission from city officials to place the fish in McKinley Lake.

Knickel also discussed plans for a fishing derby for local children and the plan was endorsed by Fire Chief Owen Sifritt and Police Chief Tom Coon. Knickel said he would be willing to haul fish from the Lake Erie area to be placed in the lake.

Each fish would be tagged by the conservation department and youths pulling out the tagged fish would be awarded prizes. More tagged fish would be placed in the lake as the supply diminished.

The bluegills, placed in the lake Thursday, will spawn next spring and the lake will be well-stocked, Knickel said.

Man Found Guilty Of Drunk Driving

Fred Brodnax Jr., 41, of Camden, Ark., was sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail when he was found guilty of a charge of drunken driving at a trial in Marion Municipal Court this morning.

Arrested at 5:25 p.m. Wednesday on Route 23 by the state highway patrolmen, he entered a plea of not guilty in Municipal Court yesterday. Unable to post a bond, he was held in the County jail last night for his trial to day.

In addition to the jail term, Acting Judge Edwin L. Mitchell fined Brodnax $100 and costs and suspended his driver's license for three years.

This marked the first sentencing of a motorist charged with drunken driving in Municipal Court since the last of May. Three other cases are still pending. Not guilty pleas were previously entered by Charles D. Dutton, 37, of near LaRue, Freelon Gullett, 32, of 607 E. George St., and Carl E. Miller, 36, of 434 Scranton Ave., all charged with driving while intoxicated.

Sesqui Parade Will Highlight Closing Days of Crawford Fair

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—A second afternoon of harness racing and night performance by the WLW Midwestern Hayride highlight today's activities at the Crawford County fair here.

A capacity grandstand crowd was present Thursday afternoon for the first of three afternoons of harness racing. The card, postponed from Wednesday because of a wet track, included a two-division 25 pace, a 2-year-old pace and a 25 class trot.

Today's racing events include a two-year-old trot, three-year-old pace, 20 class trot and 20 class pace with a purse of $600 in each event.

Last night's grandstand attraction was presented by Lueder's Grandstand Varieties of 1953. The show featured a variety of vaudeville acts.

Reigning as Junior Fair queen is Miss Barabara Reinhard, 18, daughter of Mrs. Alice Reinhard of Bucyrus and a 1953 graduate of Holmes-Liberty High School. Miss Reinhard placed first in voting by 365 junior fair exhibitors from a field of 11 candidates.

Other queen contestants included Evelyn Fisher, New Washington; Jane Hart, Whetstone; Shirley Briggs, Bucyrus; Mary Jo Guinther of near Nevada; Miriam Gerhart, Chatfield; Claran Jean Honsberger, Lykens; Vivian Rice, Sulphur Springs; Dorothy Sturm, North Robinson; Arlene Grove, Tiro, and Jo An Hoover, Leesville.

Fair board officials announced today that winner of the county grange booth displays was North Robinson with Leesville ranking second followed by Whetstone, Bucyrus, Holmes-Liberty, Cranberry, Mt. Zion and Harmony. General theme of the North Robinson display was "Progress."

Closing events, Saturday, include the junior fair and sesquicentennial parade, starting at 12:30 p.m., followed by harness racing and an auto thrill show.

A mock battle and demonstration will be staged at 6 p.m. by a local Ohio National Guard unit and the closing event will be a second performance of Chitwood's Auto Daredevils.

State Gets Ready For Annual Fight Against Ragweed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Several of Ohio departments are set to gang up on ragweed, the incubator for hay fever.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state health director, said ragweed is the principal source of hay fever—the disease which annually bothers some quarter of a million Ohioans.

One plant produces more than a billion pollen grains, Porterfield said. Best way to control ragweed is to destroy it with a spray such as 2-4-D, said Howard S. Foust, state director of agricultue.

The state health and agriculture departments are calling on highway and natural resources departments to assist in ragweed control by destroying the plants on land they supervise.

A STILL FARM

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — There's more than one way to lose a farm, one of the most common being not to pay for it. $40 Million Historical Shrine To Be Erected at Pine Mountain

ATLANTA (AP)—Every state in the nation will participate in building a national historical shrine that may cost as much as 40 million dollars on Pine Mountain near Warm Springs, Ga.

Plans for the gigantic memorial were announced by Charles F. Palmer of Atlanta, war-time special assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt whose vacation retreat was near the site.

Palmer, chairman of the Hall of Our History, a non-profit educational corporation organized in 1952, estimated it will take 10 years to complete the monolithic structure.

The shrine to American history will be 400 feet long, 280 feet wide and 90 feet high. It will be in the form of an open hall upon whose walls will be inscribed in high relief a chronological history of the United States.

About $145,000, contributed by two sources of private wealth that prefer to remain anonymous, has been spent on research, plans and models for the project.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay of New York is vice-chairman, and Robert V. Fleming of Washington, D. C. is treasurer of the organization sponsoring the shrine.

Palmer, a prominent Atlanta real estate developer, said he expects ground breaking ceremonies to be held later this year. Public participation in support of the monument will begin in February, 1954, he said.

Street Festival Brings $2,800 for Nevadian

NEVADA—The two-day street festival held here for the financial aid of a former resident, James Starner, 35, now of Canton, was a success beyond expectations. The amount realized was $2,800 and will be deposited in the Nevada branch of the Citizen's First National Bank of Upper Sandusky, to be used for his recovery. Any amount beyond that need will be used in re-establishing him in a normal life.

A card of thanks was received from the former Nevada man, saying he has been able to walk some after the treatments at the Spears Chiropractic Sanitarium and Hospital at Denver, Colo., where he has been a patient for several weeks. He has been paralyzed in the legs, arms and hands claimed to have resulted from an injury while serving in the Army in the South Pacific.

New President Named At Crestline Hospital

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Chester Jones Sr., was elected president of the staff of Crestline Emergency Hospital, when that group held its August meeting in the form of a covered dish dinner in the home of Mrs. Elsie Newkirk in Shelby Tuesday night. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Robert Nolder, vice president; Mrs. William Scheiber, secretary and Mrs. Kenneth Parr, treasurer.

A general discussion was held in regards to the purchasing of a fan for the surgical room.

A white elephant auction was held and the proceeds will be used toward the purchase of a new dishwasher for the hospital kitchen.

The next meeting will be Sept. 8.

GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS

Officers, headed by Sue Smiley as president, were elected at a picnic meeting of the Trinity Baptist Ohn Bwint Guild Wednesday. Mrs. Barbara Purvis, one of the counselors, entertained the group at her home on Delaware Ave. Others elected include Sandra Shuster, vice president; Linda Weston, secretary; Kathy Halderman, treasurer; and Karen Cottrell, reporter. Programs for the year were outlined. Co-counselor with Mrs. Purvis is Mrs. Sharlene Wilson. Linda Weston will be hostess for the next meeting at her home at 221 Ellis Ct.

Atrocity Probe Is Counted Out; Fear Reprisals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Short (R-Mo) said today the House Armed Services Committee has decided against making any immediate investigation of reported Communist atrocities against American prisoners in the Korean War.

It might bring reprisals on Americans still in Red hands, Short said in an interview.

He made the statement as demands were voiced by some other members of Congress for investigation of atrocity stories brought back by the latest Americans to come home from Red prison camps this week.

Rep. Machrowicz (R-Mich) called for such a probe. He said in a separate interview it should be conducted "just as soon as possible, while the evidence is fresh."

Machrowicz also endorsed a demand, voiced Wednesday by Sen. Potter (R-Mich), for a Senate Armed Services Committee investigation of evidence that the Reds apparently held back seriously ill prisoners last April, when they were supposed to exchange them.

But Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressed doubt that a congressional investigation would be worthwhile.

"It is a terrible and dreadful thing," he said, urging that the Eisenhower administration make "all the facts" known to the world.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far East Commander, said in a Pentagon news conference yesterday the Reds may have 2,000 or 3,000 more Americans than the 3,313 they have agreed to free. Latest casualty reports list 8,705 Americans as missing in action, some of whom are believed to have been captured.

Fergus on said reports of the emaciated condition of the United Nations prisoners freed this week are "unbelievable" and "dreadful."

He accused the Communists of bad faith in their handling of the April exchange of sick and wounded, and expressed grave concern whether the Reds could be trusted in the forthcoming Korea peace conference.

An attempt last January to set up a special House committee to investigate Korean atrocities was shelved when the Pentagon advised Republican leaders that it might endanger American captives.

Pow's

evidence the Reds hold from 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans than the 3,313 they listed for return. He also said "thousands and thousands" of South Koreans are unaccounted for.

Clark said Washington instructed him to sign the armistice but reserving the right to press for information about additional captives in later proceedings.

Clark said the U. N. Command had to accept the Red figures or use military power to force the Reds to sign the truce.

He said that if the Reds break the truce he would favor using "any and every weapon" to retaliate. He did not specifically mention atomic weapons, but presumably his statement would cover them.

Clark, who is soon to retire as U. N. commander, is in the United States on a brief visit from his Tokyo headquarters.

The Reds have often said the figures they gave are correct. They have said, however, that not all Allied POWs have been screened to see if they desire to return home.

Meanwhile, nearly 12,000 Red fanatics in Koje Island prison compounds off far Southern Korea rioted on the eve of their freedom.

One Red was shot to death and four others were wounded when U. N. guards had to fire to put down the first of three uprisings. They stopped the others with tear and vomiting gas.

The POW Command said the Reds apparently were trying to "save face" after the "disgrace" of being captured and were also trying to avoid reprisals from the Red bosses they will soon rejoin by proving they never quit fighting.

Victims of Prison Camp Propaganda

Seven Americans Refuse Repatriation, GI's Say

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP) —Two American soldiers fresh from a North Korean prison camp said today about seven fellow Americans had refused repatriation, preferring to live under communism.

Other liberated Americans added to the mounting evidence of Communist brutality and disregard for human life.

They told of mass burials, trials for "instigating against the peace" and relentless propaganda lectures —sometimes by fellow Americans.

Pvt. Steve Glowacki, 22, of 274 Franklin St. Brooklyn, New York, and Pfc. Thomas R. Murray of Baltimore, both said the Americans who turned down a chance to go home were at the Pyoktong camp near the Manchurian border.

"They were the biggest 'progressives' in camp," Murray said, referring to the term Allied prisoners use for POWs who had been indoctrinated.

"They were having a party when we left," Glowacki said. "I didn't associate with them."

A liberated South Korean said many of his countrymen had been frightened into staying in the North—sometimes even as they were within short miles of freedom.

He said the Reds told South Koreans POWs they would be shot by ROK troops if they returned to their homes.

The South Korean, Pfc. Park Young Ho, 27, said the Red propaganda continued even as the ROK prisoners were being moved to Kaesong for repatriation. Five or six South Koreans, he said, refused repatriation at the last minute.

An American officer at the nearby South Korean processing center said only 244 ROKs were delivered today, although the Communists had promised to return 250.

Another American who was held at the Pyoktong camp said "close to 2,000" Americans, British and other U. N. troops were buried in shallow graves during the winter and spring of 1951.

"There are no markers at all."

Sgt. I. C. Junior E. Dunlap, 24, of McCorkle, W. Va., said. "We buried them on the North Korean side of the Yalu River on a hill.

"Some we buried at the edge of the water because we were too weak to carry them up the hill. We only got some of them halfway covered. The ground was frozen, and we were too weak to dig. We laid them up against an embankment and scraped dirt and stones over them."

Dunlap said that of 3,000 Allied soldiers at Pyoktong in late January, 1951, only 1,400 were still alive in mid-summer. Dunlap, a tank commander, was captured in November, 1950.

Pfc. William Skipper of Gallivants Ferry, S. C. estimated that 1,000 men died at Pyoktong from Jauary, 1951, until the camp broke up Aug. 1, 1953.

"Most of them died from dysentery" he said. "The Communists tried to treat it but their medicine was no good. You'd get shed of it and then you'd get it right back after you'd eat the food."

An Indiana corporal, taken prisoner when he was only 17, estimated at least 1,000 Americans died of pneumonia and other diseases during his nearly three years of captivity at Pyoktong.

Cpl. Harry C. Copeland of Muncie, Ind., said the British and Turkish soldiers adapted more readily than the Americans to the sparse Oriental diet of millet and rice.

The Americans "couldn't eat, couldn't hold it down," Copeland said. "A lot of guys died—they gave up hope."

Two Americans related how a U. S. officer lectured them on germ warfare.

Pfc. John A. Keen, 20, Naples, Fla., said he thought the officer was forced to give the lectures.

The officer related that he himself participated in dropping germs on Communist territory, Keen said. His name was not disclosed.

Cpl. Raymond E. Mills, 22, Rt. 2, West Palm Beach, Fla., joined Keen in saying that he did not believe the officer's story.

The Communists carried on a propaganda campaign throughout much of the war that the United States was waging germ warfare. High U. S. oficials denied the accusations repeatedly.

Cpl. Donald V. Sherrick, 21, of Sioux City, Iowa, who said he sat in on the germ warfare lectures by the American officer, related that one U. S. enlisted man was given a one-year sentence for "instigating against the peaceful life."

Other liberated prisoners have told similar stories of Communist "trials."

Applications Accepted for First Dr. Young Medical Scholarship

Selection of a Marion County medical student as the first recipient of a scholarship from a $32,000 memorial fund created by the late Mrs. Florence M. Young is expected to be made the latter part of this month.

William R. Martin, executor of Mrs. Young's will, met Wednesday with Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of city schools, and D. T. Mills, superintendent of county schools, to begin the process of selection of a student. Under provision of Mrs. Young's will, these three men will be responsible for picking the recipient.

Mrs. Young died Nov. 29, 1952, leaving an estate appraised at $160,283. Other beneficiaries of her will are the Marion Chapter of the Girl Scouts of America, the Marion Public Library, and two stepdaughters.

Terms of her will provided for setting up the scholarship fund, known as "The Dr. Fillmore Young Memorial Scholarship Fund," in honor of her husband who died Nov. 20, 1939. Trustee of the fund is the Huntington National Bank of Columbus.

The fund is so set up that it would aid eight students over a period of 32 years. Each student chosen would receive $1,000 a year for each of his or her final four years of medical education.

Although the student would have to be a resident of the city of Marion or of Marion County, "there shall not be any restrictions whatsoever as to said student's race, religion, or ancestry," the will states.

To be eligible for consideration for the scholarship, the student applicant "shall have completed the educational requirements necessary for his or her entrance into an accredited medical college."

Only one student at a time can benefit from the fund, the will stipulates, and only those applicants having insufficient finances can be considered.

Application blanks, calling for background, schooling, and premedical information, are now available at his law office at 150 E. Center St., Martin reported. They must be filed in his office before 4 p.m. on Aug. 20 for consideration for the first award.

eration and was cited to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Three other accidents investigated by the patrol included a one-car mishap near Caledonia and a sideswiping.

Oscar Gates, 19, of 369 Owens St., lot control of his car on U. S. 30-S, three-tenths mile west of Caledonia, at 8:50 p.m. Thursday. The car swerved off the right side of the highway, skidded back across the road and overturned in a ditch on the left side. It was extensively damaged and a wrecker was called to tow it away. Gates escaped without injury.

At 5:40 a.m. today, a car driven by Betty Kendal, 33, of Anderson, Ind., collided with an oncoming car driven by Thurlo Stirn, 43, of Beaverdam, when he attemped to pass a truck on Route 30-N, six miles west of Bucyrus. The Kendal car swerved to the left side of the highway to avoid hitting the Stirn car but the right sides of the two vehicles sideswiped. Both cars were considerably damaged. Miss Kendal was fined $15 and costs when she appeared before Mayor Frank P. Sitler at Bucyrus this morning to answer a charge of passing without assured clear distance.

Car driven by Julie Parsell, 17, of near Marion, rammed into the rear of a car driven by Charles Eblin, 37, of near Marion, on E. Water St. in Prospect at 12:05 a.m. today. Eblin was waiting for the traffic light at the time of the impact. No wrecker was needed and no one was injured.

Also due for some attention is Senate confirmation of the new state Highway Construction Council established by the Republican highway financing program. Sen. C. The committee studies appointments before they are acted upon by the full Senate.

service. Donald's father is dead.

Pfc. Bryant's release was the answer to the prayers of his mother, Mrs. Grace L. Bryant.

"It's such good news," she said. "Thank God my prayers have been answered."

Her son was captured Sept. 6, 1951, during an engagement with the North Koreans and Chinese Communists at Honchon.

Mrs. Bryant said she heard from her son about every two weeks for the first three months he was a prisoner. Since then letters have come only about every three months.

One mother fully expected her son to be on today's list.

Mrs. Bernice Tracy, visiting Columbus from Escondido, Calif., said she had a vision her son would be released. Tracy lists his home as Columbus, where he attended school. Mrs. Tracy said the official news that Cpl. Tracy had been freed came as no surprise.

Cpl. James R. Tracy, 25, of 121 Norwich Ave., Columbus, Ohio, said he wants to enter the ministry when he returns to the United States.

Captured on Sept. 1, 1951, he said it took him two months to reach the Pyoktong camp.

"I preached the gospel up there; the Chinese put a lot of pressure on at first to limit religious teaching," he said, adding:

"I was more or less warned against holding church services but they did not exactly say what they would do."

Tracy said he persisted and Chinese pressure slackened toward the end of the year.

"One company had one Bible which we were able to obtain once a week. That was the only Bible I knew of in the camp."

Dulles said he would have a final meeting with the South Korean President at 10 a. m. Saturday (8 p. m. EST Friday) then would fly to Tokyo.

"I will spend tomorrow night in Tokyo and take off for the States on Sunday," he said.

Dulles and high State Department officials arrived in Korea Tuesday and Dulles and President Rhee have conferred four times on post-armistice problems in Korea.

At a roadside news conference after he drove out of the grounds of Rhee's mansion, Dulles said he thought "good progress" had been made today.

However, a moment later he said he and the President were working on a prepared statement to be given out tomorrow "covering what we have done"

DRIVER FORFEITS BOND

One traffic arrest was reported today by Marion police. Clayton DiStefano, 24, of Canton was charged with speeding 55 miles an hour and with failure to display his driver's license on demand of a policeman. He posted a $35 bond for his appearance in Municipal Court today and when he failed to show up, his bond was ordered forfeited.

Germ Warfare Story Exploded

Prisoner Eats Bug To Disprove Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says one American prisoner ended Communist germ warfare propaganda at a North Korean prison camp by eating a supposedly germ-infested bug.

A dispatch from Inchon, Korea, by Greg MacGregor said the incident was witnessed and the story told by Sgt. 1.C. Edward Hewlett, 24, of Detroit. Hewlett has just been released after three years as a prisoner of war.

Last year Sgt. Hewlett was in Weisong prison camp near the Manchurian border. He and others were forced to attend propaganda classes. In one phase of the classes the Chinese Communists tried to convince American prisoners that the U. S. Air Force was dropping germs over North Korea.

The Communists displayed pictures purporting to show North Koreans in open fields picking up bugs they said were infested with germs by "American imperialists."

One day an instructor brought "evidence" to the class—a small glass container, in which there was a bug the instructor said "is an insect bearing deadly germs to kill the people of North Korea and the Chinese volunteer army who came to protect them."

Finally one American prisoner calmly picked the bug out and popped it into his mouth.

"He will die soon but infect you all first," the interpreter warned.

From week to week, said Sgt. Hewlett, reports were issued that the insect eater was near death's door. But within two months, he was released from "death's door" looking amazingly well.

Policeman Pleads Guilty

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Cleveland policeman charged with receiving and concealing stolen whisky pleaded guilty today along with three other persons involved in an interstate hijacking case.

Following the pleas, Kenneth G. Weir, the policeman later discharged from the force, was returned to Cuyahoga County jail under $10,000 bond pending a probation report.

In 1836, to encourage temperance among seamen of the Coast Guard revenue cutters, the spirit ration was discontinued and a three-cent monthly allowance substituted.

Two From Marion To Receive College Degrees Saturday

Two Marion men will graduate from Ohio University at Athens in annual summer term commencement exercises Saturday in Alumni Memorial Auditorium.

Artz is a graduate of Valley Forge Military Academy and between his junior and senior years at Ohio University, served two years in the service. He was stationed in Okinawa and the states and held the rank of Sergeant when he was discharged.

Graham, who will receive a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, has accepted a job with Ohio Edison Co. He will start as a junior engineer in Marion on Monday.

An ROTC cadet, Graham will also receive his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force. He is a graduate of Harding High School in 1947 and attended Ohio State University one semester before enrolling at Ohio University.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

No one can be so positive about his own position as to deny the possibility of error. If it were otherwise, men would be gods. There used to be a theological concept of Adam as a complete man, standing from Earth to Heaven, knowing everything, living forever Fortunately, Adam got a wife and stopped being perfect.

SOKOLSKY

Politicians, columnists, editors and clergymen project their personalities and opinions as an ordinary function of their professions and it is not astonishing that they should, at times, become so sure of themselves that they grow intolerant of differences.

-:-

THE FUNDAMENTAL difference between the American and the Marxist concept of life is that great varieties of views and practices are tolerable in our country.

On the other hand, we have made the astounding discovery that since 1934, a number of Americans, some of whom managed to achieve positions of distinction and importance, have been engaged in espionage against their own country.

Espionage is an ugly vocation. The spy is a hated creature. The man who spies against his own country, whether for money or for ideological reasons, is held in contempt by other men.

Nations devise all sorts of means for protecting themselves against spies, because the lives of decent people and the existence of the state are imperilled by them.

The Rosenbergs, for instance, may have been able to rationalize their espionage, but the end result of their conduct can be the destruction of our cities, our industries and millions of lives.

IT WAS Congress, not the Rosenbergs, that was empowered to decide the right or wrong of the secrecy of the atom bomb.

If private judgment alone is to prevail, then there can be no security, no defense against an enemy, no discipline in the armed forces.

Dean Francis B. Sayre, Jr., of the Episcopal Cathedral of Washington, D. C., made this point:

"It comes mighty close to tempting God when anyone operates on the assumption that they are the divinely constituted guardians of other men's consciences, other men's patriotism or thoughts.

"Once the church occupied this role—but when it abused the power as it sometimes did, the modern world would trust it no longer. Yet today this power is in the hands of men far less responsible."

-:-

HE IS, of course, correct as far as he goes. Yet, if a man commits murder, do we leave him solely to the judgment of God?

I am not saying that Dean Sayre takes that position, but I do ask, at what point may the State interfer with private conscience and personal practice?

If at no point, we live in an anarchy; if everywhere and totally, we live under Fascism.

The American system is that the State interferes to protect its own existence and the lives of its people by due process of law.

What is due process? Is a Congressional investigation into espionage not due process?

This is not a subject for controversy but for the determination of fact.

ALL FEDERAL laws are passed by Congress—a law denying the right to spy as well as a law establishing a committee of Congress.

The Supreme Court of the United States can determine whether such acts conform with the letter and intent of Congress. In each instance here cited the courts have so determined.

Therefore an interrogation before a congressional committee is as much due process of law as a trial in a court.

Neither is a completed process. In a case in court, the defendant has the right of appeal.

The Rosenbergs appealed to the Supreme Court six or seven times, depending upon how one counts the appearances.

In the instance of a congressional interrogation, the witness, if held in contempt, can have his day in court.

ESPIONAGE is very difficult to prove under our laws. Alger Hiss could only be held for perjury. Remington was held for perjury. Judith Coplon, caught red-handed, won her freedom by technicalities and attrition.

With all the work that has been done in this field since 1938 by three congressional committees, the Department of Justice, and the FBI, the actual pattern of Russian espionage in the United States, the method of recruitment and infiltration in government, is not fully formed.

Naturally, a conspiracy does not operate so that the conspirators will be readily caught and the nature of the conspiracy disclosed.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

MUNICH, Germany

There are men in this propaganda warfare capital who have such massive data on what is happening behind the Iron Curtain that they have been able to predict accurately Soviet maneuvers from three to six months before they occurred. These men now believe there is a shooting civil war inside Russia between divisions of the secret police (MVD) and the Red Army.

RIESEL

There is no doubt here that the rebellious secret police will be wiped out by the Army.

But not until the MVD's private airforce and special armored divisions take a bloody toll of Red soldiers in many towns.

THIS HEAVILY curtained warfare, it is said here, is being fought between followers of the deposed Lavrenti Beria, who are not waiting around to be slaughtered, and the Soviet Army's brutal political police, a branch virtually unknown to the American public.

The psychological warfare scientists, gathered here in the nerve center of Radio Free Europe, believe that this Red civil war developed in this fashion:

As far back as February 15, a Maj. Gen. Kisilev was killed in the Kremlin. Of that there is no doubt.

Though unknown to the world, Kisilev was a most vital part of Stalin's iron machine. For Kisilev was commander of Stalin's personal Kremlin guard of about 1,000 tough men. The major general's death left the guard without any veteran leadership.

A few days later another Moscow mystery man, unknown although he was one of the most powerful officials in the Soviet world, disappeared.

HE WAS Comrade Poskrebyshev. There is no doubt of his disappearance. It's been double checked.

Tovarischi Poskrebyshev was ahead of 800 men who were the actual powers under Stalin. They were, in fact, a hard core of super-secret police—Stalin's personal secretariat.

Under Poskrebyshev these 800 men ruled even the MVD. They were the palace administrative body, answerable only to Stalin, appointed only by Stalin, coordinating every single agency and ministry in all the Soviets.

With Gen. Kisilev dead and Poskrebyshev liquidated and Stalin's personal physicians jailed the 74-year-old Red ruler was at the mercy of the old guard, which now wanted to see the dictator dead. And dead he was on March 5th.

WITH STALIN out of the way the tug-of-war for power tensed the entire Kremlin. Beria had an MVD force of 2,000,000 secret police, according to the vast archives here.

In addition to their tanks, warplanes and armored divisions, these secret police controlled, all arsenals and ammo dumps.

The Army had the guns, but only 24 hours of firing rounds. The MVD had the keys to the munition depots. That was Stalin's technique for keeping power from the generals.

It is important to know that Stalin had created another force to keep the balance of power. This was a managerial group which actually shared in the profits of all Soviet enterprises.

Here's how it worked; Every factory had its production quota.

The workers were pushed in the manner which is now so familiar to the world since the Berlin June Day riots.

-:-

IF THE PLANT exceeded its quota by, say, three per cent, the wages of all workers there would go up three per cent as a bonus.

But the pay of the managerial group, which was, and is, a powerhouse inside Russia because of its technical knowledge and indispensability as a mass bloc, was hiked anywhere from 80 per cent to 150 per cent each time the factory passed its quota.

They really shared the profits!

There was only one threat to the stability of this group, which lives in expensive and scarce villas, drives big state cars and buys its food and luxuries in special stores.

That threat came from Beria's secret police and the MVD stool pigeon system, which had something on most of these managers.

So the managerial group tied in with the Army and other forces against Beria.

-:-

THESE FACTORY executives were determined that they would no longer be at the mercy of early morning MVD squads, which could pick them of one by one.

So Beria went. The MVD split. Part was loyal to its chief. The other joined with the Red Army, now the political power inside Russia for the first time.

But none of the specialists here believe that Beria's followers gave up without a running bloody battle.

The specialists do believe that some day the world will learn from some refugee that there was deadly civil war inside Russia in the months after Stalin!

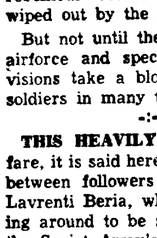
Into each life some rain must fall. But I think I have a right to object to being hit with the water bucket.



INEZ ROBB

Without previous warning or preparation I opened a picture magazine recently and there was Gary Cooper, the two-gun guy, being put to rout by a 100-pound heifer.

Here was the ridin', ropin', lopin' scourge of the prairies, the curse of cattle rustlers from the Rio Grande to the Yellowstone, hightailing it for cover with a li'l ole heifer in hot pursuit.

A HEIFER, may I add, that any half-grown kid in the Boise Valley could hog-tie or bull-doze with one hand tied behind his back.

It is no exaggeration to say that my world collapsed. If I had read that Clark Gable had just come down with rheumatism or that Sir Laurence Olivier had lost the Battle of Agincourt, my girlish dreams could scarce have been more blasted by the withering word.

I am accustomed to Mr. Cooper kissing the horse in his operas, but not the dust! We can expect the collapse of law and order in the whole cow country as the result of these pictures of the western dreamboat fleeing from what amounts to a playful calf.

-:-

MARK MY WORDS, the next time Ol' Slim, with his two guns, is sent out to work over the rustlers, these gents will laugh in his face. For, mind you, the calf wasn't even armed.

Mr. Cooper's retreat to a prepared position, whether a strategic or tactical move, may eventually be rated one of the most costly in history.

It could be the straw, to mix a metaphor, that can send the tottering movies into complete collapse.

Illusion is the sweet essence of the cinema and Mr. Cooper has struck it a death blow. If he were to play every Zane Grey hero rolled into one in the near future, if he were ridin' and ropin' from now till doomsday, millions will always remember the pictures of him running from a calf that probably only wanted his autograph in the first place.

OL' SLIM won't ever be so tall in the saddle again.

Something else, too: The first picture of Mr. Cooper's ignominous adventure in a Spanish bullring, where he had no business in the first place, shows the ol' cow hand from the Rio Grande in profile and glasses.

Now it may be the Cooper stance or it may be the pleats in his trousers, but there is shattering evidence here that Ol' Slim is developing a small corporation and had better watch his calories.

For some years now, I have idly wondered how the elongated actor kept his levis in place and his holster above his hips. But, honey, that's one worry I don't have today.

AS FOR the glasses—let me put it this way: When I was a kid, I never saw Bill Hart ridin' the range in bifocals. Or running from a playful calf that stands no more than knee-high to a Cooper.

I was born on a cattle ranch, and I have never yet seen the wranglers or the head of the posse squinting into the sun or casing the horizon through specs.

I am accustomed to Bing Crosby wearing a transformation when he goes formal and to Georgie Jessel wearing one when he just goes. I know none of us is getting any younger, and that life catches up with all of us.

But did Gary Cooper have to let that calf catch up with him?

Definitely, his grip is slowing.

ARRESTED. Actor-singer Dick Haymes (right) walks to a conference room at the Immgiration Service office in Los Angeles after his arrest for deportation to his native Argentina. Attorney General Brownell in Washington said Haymes faced the deportation because during World War II he applied for exemption from military service on the basis that he was a citizen of a neutral nation. He is flanked by newsmen and Immigration Service men.

Crooner Haymes Awaiting Hearing, Faces Deportation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Crooner Dick Haymes today awaits a hearing in about two weeks that may mean deportation to his native Argentina.

Immigration officials arrested the 34-year-old singer yesterday on a charge of entering the United States illegally last June 1 after a Honolulu sojourn with his newest heart interest, actress Rita Hayworth.

Haymes posted a $500 surety bond pending the hearing. He said the arrest was just a technicality and expressed belief it could be straightened out.

The McCarran Immigration Act, adopted last year, provides that an alien who leaves continental United States may not re-enter.

Herman R. Landon, District director of the U. S. Immigration Service, said it would take an act of Congress for the crooner to become a citizen.

Guard Against Revolt

Soviet Tanks Reported At German Plant Gates

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Army tanks today were reported ringing many East German factories to deal with possible outbreaks of the rebellious population.

The report was published in the U. S. State Department newspaper Neue Zeitung as East Germans coming to West Berlin for the American-backed food handout reported new sporadic unrest in the Russian zone.

Neu Zeitung said the Red tanks, first called out to quell the June 17 rebellion, had been stationed around "numerous big East zone factories." There was no indication however, that violence had developed at any of these potential trouble spots.

With the crumbling of their travel blockade against the food seekers, the Communist police meanwhile intensified their confiscation drives to strip thousands of East Germans of the food they collected in West Berlin.

Reinforced cordons of Communist "People's Police" surrounding Berlin snatched the food parcels on trains and railway stations and plundered people who used pedestrian crossing back to the Russian zone.

West Berlin relief officials warned that the Communists now were also looting the mails of food which some East Germans have been posting home to circumvent the police cordons.

Despite the new terror, thousands more East Germans and East Berliners lined up in the food queues for the 12th day of the giveway. Yesterday 148,061 parcels were distributed, boosting the 11-day total to 1,756,000.

Recreation Levy Okayed For Ballot at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus voters will be given another opportunity to vote on a half-mill tax levy for recreational purposes, city councilmen announced today.

Councilmen have authorized the placing of the levy, which would be for a five-year period, on the ballot at the November election. A similar levy was defeated last November when it failed to receive a 60 percent majority. A favorable vote of about 53 percent was recorded.

Veterinarians Give Up On Hiccoughing Bull

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Four months of hiccoughing were ended today for Pete, the bull.

He was taken to a slaughter house, and killed, because he showed no signs of recovering.

Pete's owner, Jerry Shanks of Martinsville, had put the 17-month-old bull out to pasture last April, when an operation by veterinarians at Ohio State University failed to stop his hiccoughs.

The vets and Shanks tried everything they knew, but Pete just kept on hiccoughing.

Grandma's Treasure
Grandma went away last night.
My Daddy said
that she was very happy now,
and that I mustn't cry.
But, I saw the tears
in his eyes.
I don't really understand
why Grandma said it was for me.
I mean the beautiful diamond ring she always wore.
Daddy says Grandma wanted me to have it.
Of course, I'm too young now.
But, someday...
I'll never forget Grandma.

Ear to Grindstone Is Factory 'Must'

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(INS)—Keep your ears, not your nose, to the grindstone. That's the maxim of grinding machine operators in industrial plants.

The reason is that grinding wheels talk and and workmen must know their language, according to engineers of Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp.

A steady, contented hum lets the worker know that everything is going fine. But the voice of the wheel changes as it breaks down. A wheel that is too hard gives off a high-pitched squeal while one that is too soft will grumble deeply and throw a little abrasive grains at the operator. And when a wheel is being fed into its work, it hisses. The change in tones enables the workman to play his grinding machine by ear.

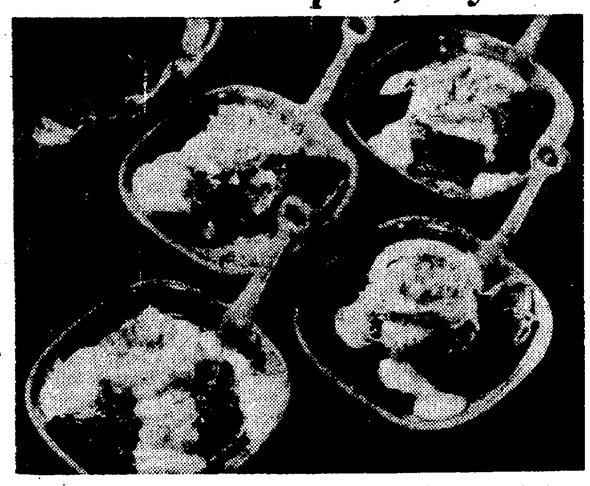
When Guests Pop In, Try This



This is the season for surprises! At almost any hour, you're liable to be visited by vacationing friends who find themselves in your neighborhood. To be prepared for such occasions, it's wise to keep several sprightly lunch or supper menus in mind, such as this new casserole. Guests are sure to be delighted, too, and give many a compliment to the clever homemaker who serves it.

TOWN AND COUNTRY CASSEROLE

Ingredients: 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 6 slices baked ham, 6 round shredded wheat biscuits, 3 deviled eggs, ¼ cup grated processed American cheese.

Method: Make a cream sauce by placing salt, pepper, cayenne and 1½ cups of the milk in a saucepan over low heat. Mix remaining milk with flour until smooth; add gradually to hot (not boiling) milk in saucepan, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened; stir in butter.

Lay a ham slice in each of 6 individual casseroles; place a round shredded wheat biscuit on top of the ham and pour some hot cream sauce over it. Top each with half a deviled egg; sprinkle with grated cheese. Place in broiler for about 2 minutes until cheese melts. Serve immediately.

Fair Attractions Will Include Baton Contest, Amateur Revue

The Marion County Fair Board will sponsor the National Regional Baton Twirling Contest at the Marion County Fair this year. The contest will be held on the opening day of the fair, Saturday, Aug. 22.

The contest will last from 12 to 4 p.m. At 4 p.m., a strutting contest will be held and at 4:15, a mass demonstration for visitors will be given by the entire group.

Trophies will be awarded at 4:30.

In connection with the baton twirling contest, an Amateur Revue will also be sponsored by the fair board. This event will be held on Monday afternoon in front of the grandstand at 2 p.m.

Contestants in this event are requested to register in front of the grandstand at 1:30 p.m. Each contestant in this event will receive a gold medal. In addition, several trophies will be given to winners.

Entries for this affair close on Thursday, Aug. 20. Persons interested in this contest should contact Harley Mayers at 460 Lark St., or call 2-1883.

Those interested in the Baton Twirling Contest should contact Victor Faber at Napoleon Ohio, for futher information and rules.

Rules of the Amateur Revue provide that one trophy will be awarded for each ten entrants. Time of each act is limited to three minutes. Each should contain the name, address, age, type of act, and name of the act of the persons entering. The entry should be accompanied by a on edollar entry fee. Entry after the deadline, Aug. 20, will be subject to a fee of two dollars.

All contestants must be present and register at the grandstand at 1:30 on the day of the contest.

BOATING EDITOR SEASICK

Colorado Celebration To Mark Land Claim

BRECKENRIDGE, Colo. (AP)—There will be a no-man's land celebration in this Central Colorado town Sunday, marking the 17th anniversary of the day it was officially claimed for the United States.

Some historians dispute the story, but local folks say an area centered here was overlooked in early treaties, due to confusion over mountain ranges. At any rate, a ceremony was held in 1936 claiming the region for the United States.

The local fire department will be in charge of the celebration. A cabin will be given away.

All Business Is Halted While Funds Are Moved

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Twice a day for five minutes each time all activity stops dead on busy Medford Square for a million dollars in cash.

The currency is pushed across the square in a hand cart at the start of each business day, and then back again at day's end.

The money is taken from the Middlesex County National Bank to temporary quarters in a store on the opposite sidewalk because a remodelling project is underway at the bank.

P. S.—A squad of heavily armed policemen stands guard during the transfer.

Boy Scout Troop On Camping Trip

Marion Boy Scout Troop 46 is camping for a week in the Irish Hills of Michigan. Traveling by automobile, the troop left Wednesday under the leadership of assistant scoutmaster Harold Stafford and committeemen Bob Quick and Mike Bogard.

Their destination is the Walter Hayes Park nine miles west of Clinton, Mich. This park is within half a mile of Wamplers Lake. Large and small mouth bass, bluegill, perch and pike inhabit the water. There are extensive wooded camping grounds with a sanitary water system, bath house, store and service building, boat livery and group camp building. The boys are planning as many projects as time permits.

Several others from Marion plan to meet the boys sometime during the week including scoutmaster Roy Buckingham.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Critic At-Large

Criticism is something radio and television attempts but rarely, though broadcasters think about it wistfully from time to time. Not long ago David Sarnoff, board chairman of RCA and president of NBC, declared that television ought not to be afraid to answer its critics and to call attention to its own virtues, of which it has a few.

J. CROSBY

I'm not sure self-criticism or — more accurately — self-defense ever does much good. But radio and television pretty thoroughly lack criticism of any sort, more's the pity. Put a man in front of a microphone (or a camera) and he becomes an uncritical animal. Most news, a lush field for perceptive analysis, is presented largely uncritically. Criticism, if any, is by implication. This is the news. Make up your own mnd.

-:-

WELL, THERE ARE a few intelligent and outspoken voices — Edward R. Murrow, Elmer Davis, Gerald Johnson, Eric Sevareid. But criticism of any sort is largely confined to politics, a field which is perhaps over-criticized. There is a large world of books and theater and movies and magazines and — well — just people that reamins uncriticized and largely ignored, at least on radio and TV.

It's a shame, too, because there are some awfully bright minds on the air and, on the rare occasions when they do speak out they contribute a lot of laughter and wisdom.

A case in point is Eric Sevareid's little gem of an essay on what he called publicity saints, people like Romanoff or Zsa Zsa Gabor who remain inexplicably famous long after they have done anything especially noteworthy. It was a marvelously perceptive bit of journalism and has since been reprinted many times and has practically gone round the world. But things like that are rare, terribly rare.

Years ago there was Will Rogres who opined, among other things, that we were the only nation to go to the poorhouse in an automobile. Then there was Alexander Woollcott who could be both savagely critical and wildly enthusiastic. But when he came to radio, he mostly left the criticism at home and subsisted on the overripe enthusiasm. In our own times, there have been efforts to turn Fred Allen loose on our mores, but nothing ever comes of it.

ONE OF THE FEW critics around is Leon Pearson who has a 15-minute program on NBC radio 3 p.m. EDT Sundays. Pearson, who is Drew Pearson's brother, calls his program "Critic at Large" and that is a very apt title. Pearson roams all over creation, talking about books and movie and magazine pieces and the theater and people. I am awed by the amount of reading and moviegoing and playgoing that Mr. Pearson gets under his belt in any one week.

This is not entirely a virtue. Pearson rambles a little too far in each 15 minutes. Not that I'd like to restrict his range which I find admirable but I occasionally wish he'd settle down and explore one book or one movie or whatever a little more thoroughly rather than touching so lightly on so many.

Almost everything interests him —the tug of war between Look and Life over the prose of Adlai Stevenson, the man both magazines did so much to defeat. Josef Stalin's drinking habits, the broken leg of the goat in "Porgy and Bess."

HIS MOST SEARCHING criticism, I find, is on the magazines, mass media which exercise enormous influence and which have been almost entirely uncriticized. He speaks freely about the editorial policies of Time—it has one even if it hasn't an editorial page — the life story of Margaret O'Brien, something I'd just as soon forget all about; the price ($600,000) Life paid for Harry Truman's memoirs.

He's a mild critic, generally, but he can bite hard at times. "This film, 'Salome'," he will tell you, "is about as Biblical as a fan dance." And occasionally savage, as witness his remarks about Field Marshal Montgomery's visit here: "Montgomery's arrogance was even worse (than Vishinsky's). When we asked him for the purpose of his visit, he said. "I've come to see an American baseball game — and a drug store. You know I've never seen a baseball game or a drugstore.'

"Well, this may have seemed quite engaging to some people but to shipboard reporters it was old ham. He said precisely the same thing when he came here two years ago — the same line about the baseball game. I think he also specified peanut butter that time. He wanted to taste peanut butter."

And Pearson added bitterly: "That sense of superiority the British cannot shake off . . . makes Montgomery think these Americans will jolly well be delighted if he tells them every two years he wants to see one of their baseball games."

Boy, 4, Mistakes Electric Outlet for Whistle, Is Burned

HICKORY, N. C. (AP)—There'll be no more whistles for little Jimmy Preslar—not for a while.

Jimmy saw a whistle on the floor of Zion Lutheran Church. Well, he thought it was a whistle.

The 4-year-old, idle while his parents cleaned the church rugs, picked up the whistle and placed it in his mouth.

His father glanced around to find Jimmy down on his knees, his face buried in the carpet.

The child was pinned fast by 120 volts of electricity from the plug of a vacuum cleaner extension cord which he had placed in his mouth. Fred Preslar jerked the cord from the socket, freeing his son.

Jimmy wound up in Hickory Memorial Hospital with severe burns of the mouth — and no whistle.

Narcotics Is Target

Senators Plan Probe Of Juvenile Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Narcotics addiction among teen - agers, gambling influences in school sports, and youthful gangs—these are among the targets of a Senate probe of juvenile delinquency now getting in gear.

Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), named chairman Wednesday of a Senate judiciary subcommittee that will conduct the inquiry, has said a major purpose will be to create "a public groundswell" of sentiment that will aid state and local authorities and welfare agencies in combatting teen-age crime.

The Senate accepted on June 1 his proposal for a full study to determine the extent, causes and character of juvenile delinquency.

It provided $44,000 for the inquiry and directed that attention be given the punishments meted youthful offenders, as well as attempts to rehabilitate them.

Serving with Hendrickson will be Sen. Langer (R-ND), chairman of the full Judiciary Committee, and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who directed a nationwide crime investigation two years ago.

Public hearings are not expected to start before the fall.

The resolution adopted by the Senate specifically directed the subcommittee to look into the extent "to which juveniles are violating federal laws relating to the sale or use of narcotics."

Hendrickson indicated attention also will be given to activities of organized gangs of youths in some major cities, correctional laws and institutions, and increasing rates of serious offenses by young people.

Kefauver said in an interview that another field that might well be looked into was betting on school athletic games and attempts by professional gamblers to fix the outcome.

Red Chinese Seize 12 High North Koreans

Officials Charged With Plot To Overthrow Communist Regime

TOKYO (AP)—The Communist radio at Pyongyang said tonight 12 high North Korean officials have been prosecuted for planning to overthrow the Communist regime and spying for U.S. secret agents.

The North Korean radio said among the 12 officials were Rhee Syng Yop, former Peoples Censorship Committee chairman, (the equivalent of special secret police) and Pak Hong Wong, former vice premier and foreign minister.

While monitors here heard one name as Rhee Syng Yop the broadcast identified him as a former justice minister and the name probably is Lee Sung Yup.

Last month South Korean intelligence sources said Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, had fired Pak and Lee in a purge of Cabinet ministers who were pro-Russian rather than pro-Chinese.

The ROK sources said Pak had been jailed and his job given to Lee Tong Kun, a South Korean trained in Red China.

Kim reportedly held a big edge in a tug of war between North Korean Reds trained by the Chinese Communists at Yenan and those trained in Moscow.

Pak, a South Korean who turned up in North Korea after being accused of inciting Red riots in the American - occupied zone in 1946, was a former general secretary of the Korean Communist party.

From 1948 on, he was one of the most outspoken North Korean officials, often acting as a government spokesman.

Jury Fails To Agree On Abortion Charge

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Judge Charles Kirk dismissed a Clinton County Common Pleas Court jury at 1 a.m. today after it reported it was unable to reach a verdict in the trial of Dr. Herbert C. Blackman of Blanchester on a charge of abortion.

Dr. Blackman was charged with having performed the abortion of Mrs. Blanche Day of Cincinnati, mother of 10 children. Mrs. Day died in a Cincinnati hospital before her soldier husband, stationed in Japan, could reach her bedside.

The jury received the case at 4:27 p. m. yesterday.

Judge Kirk indicated the case would be tried again.

The six and one-half thousand hospitals in this country admit more than 18,000,000 patients annually to their million and one-half beds.

Bible Words to Live by

MARK 12:31—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself . . ."

"Love thy neighbor." Of course . . . for it is impossible to love God without a love for the beings God has made. And my neighbor is not just the man next door to me, or the friend who has done me many favors; my neighbor is any man who dwells as a tenant, as I most surely do, in a world that God has created for all his children. I am, therefore, commanded to love all men.

"Love thyself." I am commanded to also love myself. Is that not strange? On the contrary . . . unless I know that I am a "being with meaning," my love for my neighbor will be meaningless. I must feel that my life has meaning, purpose and direction. If I lose sight of the value of my own life and work, I am no longer a true man. My life gets warped. So I cannot love my neighbor as I should.

I will accept this commandment from Him who loves me as if He had no other children but me, so that I may love all my neighbors as if I had but one.

Kiwanis Club Hears Report On Legislature

Rep. Robinson Talks On Assembly Activities, Principal Laws Passed

Kenneth Robinson, Marion County representative to the Ohio General Assembly, made a report of the activities of the 100th General Assembly at the Kiwanis Club meeting held Thursday noon at Hotel Harding.

He said the biggest stumbling block in the early part of the session was the revision of the general code, which took almost six weeks to enact. Robinson placed the greater part of the blame for this delay on Gov. Frank Lausche. He said that Lausche should have called a special session of the assembly in order to clear up the question of the code revision, but failed to do so for fear of being placed in the position of seeming to favor the measure."

Robinson pointed out that more than 1,00 matters were brought before the assembly this year. Besides the code revision, he stressed that the highway program and school situations were the greatest problems which the assembly had to face.

Speaking of the highway program which was enacted, Robinson said that the enactment of the axle-mile tax bill was the first new tax brought into existence since he had been elected to the legislature.

He pointed out that this new tax, which goes into effect in October, is estimated to produce $20,000,000 in additional revenue. The one cent increase in gasoline taxes will produce an additional $23,000,000 in revenue each year.

He said that the axle-mile tax was passed after consideration by committee showed that it would be the easiest method of collecting a tax, even though it will result in a great deal of bookkeeping.

Robinson said the Ohio highways were only 1920 roads and no matter how much they were repaired, they would still be 1920 roads. He added that if Ohio voters pass the bond issue which will be placed on the ballot in November, the highway department will be able to begin an immediate program of reconstruction of the highway system in the state.

He said that the unemployment compensation bill enacted will benefit both the worker and the business organiation. He pointed out that the bill provides for an additional $2 a week for the worker out of a job, and at the same time, it lowers the rates paid by the business by $30,000,000 a year.

Robinson said that the lobbyists this year were more numerous than in the past, but did not interfere with the operation of the assembly as they have in past years.

He concluded his address by saying that he does not know how successful the legislation passed by this assembly will be, and that no lawmaking body can predict the success or failure of its actions.

Robinson was introduced by U. A. Nystrom, chairman for the day. Dr. Neil Price announced that the next meeting will be held Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Marion Water Pumping Station and will consist of dinner and a tour of the water works.

Guests at the meeting Thursday were H. F. Cronenberger of Kenmore, N. Y., Larry O'Day, Richard Schmidt and William McGrew.

BOATS CLOSE IN ON RUNAWAY CRAFT. Four boats powered by outboard motors are attempting to catch a run-away craft (making circle in center) in the Mississippi River one mile below the Golden Eagle Ferry crossing near St. Louis. Zay B. Hurt of Bridgeton, Mo., was tossed from the boat when it spun sharply after the motor started. He swam to shore. The pilotless craft spun about in a tight circle for 20 minutes until a small cabin cruiser pulled alongside and Phil Wismer of St. Louis County jumped into the small boat.

Old Autos, Machinery, Floats Sought

Exhibits Needed for Sesqui Parade

Do you own an automobile that made the dust fly and frightened man and beast in the early days of the century? Or perhaps your great-grandfather's "cradle" that he used in the harvest field is hidden away in some corner on the farm.

If so, get them out and help celebrate Marion County Sesquicentennial Day at the Marion County Fair on Wednesday, Aug. 26.

Or perhaps you are handy at building floats. If so, get out the hammer and bunting, think up a clever theme and enter the parade.

In addition to helping to make the day a success you stand a good chance of winning a prize.

Plans for the celebration are well under way and the Sesquicentennial Fair Board Committe is asking Granges, 4-H Clubs, FFA, other boys and girls groups, and individuals to enter floats, antique wagons, carriages, machinery and other articles of historic significance.

Prizes will be awarded in these as well as for the best horse-drawn vehicle, old automobile moving under its own power, saddle horses, couples in costume and other entries depicting the early history of the state and county.

Luther Mitchell of the board of Marion County Commissioners is chariman of the parade committee and judges for the awarding of the various prizes are being contacted by Ray Reidenbaugh, also a county commissioner.

The parade is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26. Information regarding entries may be obtained from Walter S. Guthrie, clerk of the board of commissioners, 2-0637. Frank M. Foster is chairman of the Fair Board Sesquicentennial Committee.

MT. GILEAD—The body of Sgt. Donald Ross Lane, 22, son of Mrs. Glenn Lewis of Mt. Gilead is expected to arrive in Salina, Kansas, this week end for burial. He was killed in action in Korea on May 22, this year, on his second tour of duty.

The body is being accompanied from California to Kansas by a brother, Robert Lane. The brother has been stationed with the navy in Japan and was granted the special leave to be part of the honor guard and attend the funeral services.

Sgt. Lane will be buried at the home town of his wife whom he met while stationed at an army post near Salina after his first tour of duty in Korea.

Mrs. Lewis left Mt. Gilead Wednesday morning for Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shoewalter of Edison left this morning to attend her brother's funeral.

McCray pleaded innocent yesterday in Municipal Court. Creasy was killed in an exchange of shots with another man at his store. McCray, who was treated for gunshot wounds at City Hospital, told police he "blacked out" Saturday and knew nothing of the shooting.

Yanks Play Chisox 4 Games, Seek To Wrap It Up

Chicago Takes Nine-Game Win Streak to Stadium

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Mathematicians to the contrary, the New York Yankees have an opportunity this weekend to wrap up their fifth straight American League pennant.

The figure filberts can show you this isn't so, that no matter what happens in the Yanks' four games with the Chicago White Sox starting today all eight teams in the league will still remain potential flag winners.

But if the Yankees should win all four those fellows with the figures are going to have a mighty hard time convincing many folks that the race isn't over.

New York led Chicago by five games going into today's contest. Following tomorrow's doubleheader and a single game Sunday the Yankees will have 46 games left to play. The White Sox will have 44.

A 9-game lead this late in the season normally is as good as gold. A White Sox sweep on the other hand—cutting the Yankee margin to a single game—would turn it into a real dog fight.

The White Sox are bound to be the sentimental favorites the country over since they represent hope and opportunity against the long entrenched Yankees. It might seem a lot to expect of them, or any other club, to win four in a row from the Yankees on their own home grounds. The Sox, however, have done it before. They have won their last nine at Yankee Stadium, dating back to July, 1952.

In their final preps for the big series the Yankees defeated Detroit 5-2 yesterday without much effort while the White Sox rallied for five runs in the eighth to edge Philadelphia, 6-4. Chicago has won eight out of 10 on its Eastern road trip; the Yankees have taken seven of nine on their current home stand.

Milwaukee kept alive its fleeting pennant hopes in the National League with a split against first place Brooklyn. The Dodgers took the first game 4-3 on Pee Wee Reese's bases-loaded single in the 11th inning. Milwaukee won the nightcap as sub Harry Hanebrink turned Frank Merriwell and delivered a triple with two out, the bases loaded and the Braves trailing by two runs in the last of the ninth inning. The score was 3-2.

Warren Spahn, who hasn't beaten Brooklyn in two seasons, blew an early lead in the first game, was saved temporarily when Del Crandall tied the score with a home run in the eighth, and then lost as Billy Cox and Carl Erskine singled and Junior Giliam walked prior to Reese's single.

Russ Meyer, who shut out the Braves in the first game of the series, almost saved the nightcap as he came on with two aboard and retired the next two batters in the ninth. But Sid Gordon worked him for a walk and he grooved a pitch to Hanebrink that lost the game.

In other National League action Harvey Haddix of the St. Louis Cardinals had a no-hitter going for eight innings before Philadelphia nicked him for a pair of singles in the ninth. He escaped with a 2-0 shutout, his 14th victory of the year. New York broke a 6-game losing streak at the expense of Chicago, 12-6. Pittsburgh won its third in a row from Cincinnati, 4-3.

Worsham Out After Revenge In Golf Meet

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Lew Worsham today was roaring for revenge in golf's richest tournament, the $75,000 "World" pro meet at carnival-clad Tam O'Shanter course.

Worsham, of Oakmont, Pa., carved a 7-under-par 65 yesterday for a 2-stroke first-round lead in the tourney which last year he apparently had in his hip pocket until the final 6 holes.

The 35-year-old Worsham, 1947 U. S. Open champion, was a bitter, forgotten man in the 1952 "World," after he led by four strokes but then blew apart in the stretch to wind up in a tie for seventh place.

Chasing Worsham in today's second round of the 72-hole medal play quest for the $25,000 first prize was Ted Kroll, four-time Purple Heart veteran from New Hartford, N. Y., who yesterday tamed Tam O'Shanter's par 72, 6,915-yard layout for a 67.

After Worsham and Kroll, the traffic was terrific with seven players knotted at 68 and 8 tied at 69.

The seven players knotted at 68, three strokes off the pace, were Julius Boros, Jack Burke, Gardner Dickinson, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Freddie Haas, Ed Furgol and Tommy Bolt.

Bracketed at 69 were the 1953 PGA champion Walter Burkemo, Pete Cooper, Al Besselink, Chandler Harper, Dick Mayer, Wally Ulrich, Shelley Mayfield and Jack Fleck.

Patty Berg, winner of last weekend's All American Women's Open, tied Tam's competitive course record with a 36-34 round which gave her a three stroke margin over Louise Suggs in the scrap for the $5,000 first prize in the $12,000 "World" feminine pro event.

Leahy Visits Here on Way To Play Ike

The group includes: left to right, John Ferris, pilot of the plane; John Lang and E. H. Weig, representatives of the Bankers Life and Casualty Insurance Co. of Chicago, and Leahy. Mr. Lang remained in Marion for a business conference at the Fulfillment Corp. of America. Leahy and the others flew on to Washington. The match was arranged by the Notre Dame Club of Washington, D.C.

Top Deck Cops Crawford Fair Harness Event

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Top Deck, a chestnut colt, owned by Club Acres Stable of Bucyrus, won two-year-old pace in the opening day's card of a three-day harness racing program at the Crawford County fair here Thursday before a packed grandstand.

Heavily-favored, the Bucyrus-owned horse was soundly beaten in the first heat by Avalon Doc, owned by W. W. Vandeveer, Cleveland, and driven by William Repp. Avalon Doc was unable to report for the second heat with Top Deck being the race winner on summary scoring. The horse is owned by Fred Myers, Gale Wenner Jr., R. D. Karg and Harold "Buzz" Hunter, all of Bucyrus. Driver for the Bucyrians is Bob Vallery.

In the first division of the 25 pace, Selwin A., owned by Herbert Wheeler, Celina, and driven by Denzel Berry, took both heats with Mr. Huddle, a brown colt from the stable of Dave McClain, Lima, and driven by R. Spencer, in No. 2 spot in both heats.

Winner of the second division of the 25 pace was Three Star Miss, property of W. R. Pinney of Union City, Ind., and driven by Don Edwards. Three Star Miss won the first heat and finished last in the second heat while Yedno's Ax, owned by Clarence Clabaugh, Upper sandusky and driven by E. Van Camp, captured the second heat after finishing last in the initial dash. The trophy went to the Pinney filly on her faster heat time.

Homer Teegarden's Hidden Valley Sue from Cuyahoga Falls won both heats of the 25 trot. She was driven by Adrian Burgett.

Trophies were presented by the Club Acres Stables and Pickwick Farms, both of Bucyrus, Col. Crawford post of the American Legion of Bucyrus and Paul Hildebrand, Bucyrus, superintendent of the speed program.

Purse in each event was $60.

Johnny Schmitz won three ball games last season. The southpaw won a game for the Dodgers, the Yankees and Reds. He was beaten twice.

Nixon Turns in Best Round But Trails Leahy, Krause

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon shot the best round of golf he has ever played yesterday but it wasn't good enough to beat Notre Dame's athletic director, Moose Krause, or the Irish coach, Frank Leahy.

Nixon, Krause and Leahy played the Kenwood Country Club course yesterday in a foursome with Joseph LaFortune, deputy petroleum administrator of the Interior Department.

And the vice president fired a 92. Not bad for a fellow who was hitting in the 120s four months ago.

Krause came home with the best score, 86, while Leahy shot an 88 and LaFortune joined Nixon at 92.

Before the foursome teed off, Krause and Leahy got in a practice nine. "You can't get enough of this game," Leahy said.

Seems he was right. When the foursome finished play, they decided to pass up a pre-dinner cocktail party and play the back nine a second time.

President Eisenhower was scheduled to play in the foursome but was unable to keep the engagement due to pressing administration business. Krause was his substitute.

Indians Lead Majors With 132 Double Plays

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are leading the major leagues in double plays today.

The Tribe reeled off four twin-killings yesterday against Washington to give them 132 in 105 games. The major league record for double plays in a season is 217, set by the Philadelphia A's in 1949.

During the 1952 season, attendance at National League games was down 11.7 per cent from 1951. In the American League it dropped 6.6 per cent.

Redlegs Drop Third Straight To Pittsburgh

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs seem to have found out the hard way that you have to do more than just show up at the ball park to win even when you're playing the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates.

A 4-3 victory yesterday made it three straight for the Bucs after Cincinnati had won the opener of the series.

Manager Rogers Hornsby was hopeful his boys would get back on the beam tonight when they open a three-game series against the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers. He planned to use Harry Perkowski as his pitcher. Either Preacher Roe or Johnny Podres was expected to oppose the Redleg southpaw.

The Pirates jumped into a quick two-run lead in yesterday's game on first inning home runs by Danny O'Connell and Hal Rice. They blew that lead but scored once in each the eighth and ninth as great defensive work stifled the Rhinelanders in both of those frames.

Rocky Bridges' single, an error, a walk to Bobby Adams, a double steal and Gus Bell's single gave Cincinnati one run in the fourth. They tied the count in the seventh on a single by Jim Greengrass, a double by Willard Marshall and Roy McMillan's fly.

In the ninth the Reds got one tally back and had the tying run on second when Adams lashed a liner to left. Rice made a diving catch of the ball for the final out.

Reliefer Needs Relief

DENVER (AP)—Five wild pitches—a record for one game in the Western League — were charged against reliefer Ronnie Mahrt of Sioux City last night.

The Denver Bears clubbed four hurlers for an 18-5 victory.

Seven Events BookedSunday At Speedway

A seven-race program is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Marion Speedway. Time trials are set for 1 p.m. with the first race scheduled for 2:30. Gates will open at noon.

A 25-lap run will be the feature race. The figure eight and suicide events will be run along with another surprise event. The "phantom driver" who has refused to disclose his identity will be back to run with the novices. Last Sunday his car spun out on the fourth turn.

Entries are continuing to come in for the 200-lap championship grind on Aug. 23. Thirty-three of the fastest cars at the track will be shooting for the prize money and trophy.

Toledo's AA Lead Reduced to 1 Game

By The Associated Press

Only a single game today separates league leading Toledo and runnerup Louisville in the American Association's spirited 1953 pennant chase.

Louisville shaved the Sox lead last night when the Colonels defeated the pace-setters, 7-4. Indianapolis remained in the thick of the race by downing Kansas City, 11-7. This placed the Indians in third spot—just three games behind Toledo.

In other association games, last place Charleston reared up to nip St. Paul, 3-2, and Minneapolis defeated Columbus 6-4.

Bill Kennedy, Louisville's veteran southpaw, coasted to his seventh victory against two defeats after the Colonels drove Toledo starter Dick Hoover to cover with five runs on six hits and two walks in the fourth inning.

Minneapolis righthander Harry Nicholas went the distance for his seventh victory at Columbus.

Bats for Umphlett

Williams in Pinch-Hitting Role, Pops to First Base

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, the last of the .400-hitters, is back in competitive action and most likely will be the Boston Red Sox' starting left fielder again in about two weeks.

Williams went to bat for the first time since April 30, 1952 in a crucial pinch-hitting situation during yesterday's game with the St. Louis Browns.

With the Red Sox trailing, 6-7, in the ninth with runners on third and first with one out, Manager Lou Boudreau told Williams: "Ted, I've got to use you now."

Thereupon Williams batted for rookie outfielder Tom Umphlett and lofted relief pitcher Marlin Stuart's fourth pitch into the eager hands of first baseman Dick Kryhoski.

Stuart's first pitch to Williams was a strike and the next a ball. Williams then brought the 6,792 spectators to their feet by lashing a foul into the right field stand.

After the dejected Williams returned to the dugout, Jim Piersall singled in the tying run. But Bob Young homered the Browns into an 8-7 victory in the 10th.

"I saw the ball good all the way," Wiliams explained. "Stuart threw me four screwballs. That's a good ball to hit on the ground but I wanted to get it up in the air, not into a double play. But I got under it too much."

"Yes, that's all I gave Ted," Stuart agreed. "You see a screwball goes away from a lefthanded hitter and it's fairly effective. But I wasn't worried about Williams doing anything much against me. He's only got one single off me—to left field—since I came into the league."

Actually Williams, who rejoined the Red Sox only 10 days ago after 15 months service as a Marine jet-fighter pilot, is delighted about his physical condition, despite his blistered hands.

"I'm much farther advanced than I expected to be at this time," he explained.

Derby Entrants Break Schedule To Check Cars

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Entrants in the 16th All-American Soap Box Derby, busily enjoying a fast schedule of pre-race entertainment, found time today to pamper and polish the tiny machines that will carry the lucky ones to fame and fortune.

The championship race is Sunday. Then the winning boy will claim his spoils, which include a college scholarship, and look forward to a full year as undisputed king of the gravity-powered, soap box racers.

The last of the competitors from the United States and abroad arrived here yesterday to the customary fanfare of sirens and a brass band. Photographer Leonard Nadel, 37, of Detroit, was injured as he tried to take a picture of the arrival scene. Nadel climbed up on a stepladder to get a shot and was knocked off by a projection on a passing trolley bus. He suffered a fractured elbow.

Tribe Loses 4-1

Lemon, Mel Parnell Duel In Series Opener Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—The leading pitchers in the American League pit their talents against each other tonight as the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox open a three-game series.

Bob Lemon of the Indians goes to the mound with a 15-9 record, and Mel Parnell will oppose him with a 14-7 mark at stake.

But aside from establishing temporarily which pitcher is the better man, the game won't have much significance so far as the pennant race is concerned. Cleveland is 9½ games behind leading New York and 4½ games behind Chicago; Boston trails Cleveland by 3½ and Washington is 7½ games behind Boston.

The Indians have won only four of their 13 games with the Red Sox this year.

Yesterday's 4-1 loss to Washington was the Indians' eighth in 18 games with the Senators. The sole Cleveland run was scored in the eighth when Bill Glynn singled, moved to second on an infield out and went home on a single by Al Rosen.

Frank Shea held the Tribe to six hits in his ninth victory against three defeats.

Loser Bob Feller gave up single runs in the first, third and fifth innings.

The Indians sold righthander Ted Wilks yesterday to their American Association farm club, the Indianapolis Indians. The 37-year-old hurler, obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates last August for a reported $35,000, will replace Ray Narleski on the Indianapolis mound staff. Narleski broke his jaw Wednesday night in a collision with Sam Dente during pre-game practice.

Select Pacing Field Draws Record Crowd

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hi Lo's Forbes scored another victory over a select field of fast pacing horses last night and while the 5-year-old didn't break any records he attracted enough fans who did.

The 10,431 at Baltimore Raceway was one of the biggest in Maryland harness racing history and their total bet of $472,173 set a new one-night high since parimutuels were legalized on the sulky sport in 1948.

Hi Lo's Forbes ran the mile in 2:01 4-5 to win by a neck over Chuck Volo.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

The mailman this week hauled in the latest press-radio book from the Cleveland Browns as the team buckled down to practice at Hiram College. No prediction of any sort on the outcome of the team's games is included.

SHORT

The team roster shows the nine "old men" from last year dwindled to seven. Mac Speedie and Lin Houston have quit the pro ranks and Paul Brown finds himself with only seven of his original squad. They include Dante Lavelli and George Young, ends, Lou Groza, at tackle, Bill Willis, guard, Center Frank Gatski, Otto Graham, and Marion Motley.

Twenty-five newcomers are listed on the team. Eight of them are shooting for backfield berths with the others fighting for spots on the line. Seven of the gridders are from Ohio State with eight others coming from other Big Ten schools. Three are from other Ohio colleges including Bob Schnelker from Bowling Green, Chuck Noll from Dayton and veteran Warren Lahr from Western Reserve.

Fred Bruney, OSU's latest gift to the Browns, is the lightest man on the squad. The scrappy little Bruner, who stands 5-10½, weighs in at 177 pounds. George Bean, who came in from Utah, is the shortest man on the roster at 5-9.

Doug Atkins, All-American end last year from Tennessee and Paul Brown's first choice in the player draft, towers to 6-8 and weighs a flat 250 pounds. He is the team's tallest man. Francis Helluin, starting his second season under Brown, is still the team's biggest man at 280 pounds. He is 6-2½ tall.

The roster shows Brown is still up to his old trick of covering the smaller and less - known schools. Four of the first-year hopefuls have checked in from practically unknown schools. Lorinzer Clark graduated from North Carolina A & T, Cleo Wallace from Winston-Salem Teachers College, Willie Carter from Tennessee State and Harry Davis is out of the Army Service School.

Brown will unveil his 1953 team on Aug. 23 at San Francisco in a practice game against the 49ers. The first league game will be played against the Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee on Sept. 27.

DANNY DAY, former Harding High School athletic star, is in Mt. Carmel Hospital at Columbus where he is to undergo a knee operation. The operation is being performed in the hope it will correct trouble in the left leg which has hampered Dan since his graduation.

Day is currently performing with the track squad at Miami University at Oxford.

Batting—Harry Hanebrink, Milwaukee Braves, tripled with the bases loaded, two out and Milwaukee losing 2-0 in the ninth inning, driving in all of the Braves' runs as they salvaged the second game of a doubleheader with Brooklyn 3-2.

Pitching — Harvey Haddix, St. Louis Cardinals, pitched eight hitless innings before giving up two singles in the ninth in winning his over Philadelphia.

HIT TUNA. A fancy decoration for that open space over the mantlepiece is this 646-pound bluefin tuna, first of the season to be taken off the Rhode Island coast. The proud angler, Mrs. Russ MacGrotty of Flushing, L. I., displays her catch after landing at Montauk, N. Y. The big fish was taken on a 24-thread line after a 90-minute battle.

Whips Shovel 12-9

Marion Industries Squad Wins Girls' League Title

The Marion Industries girls softball team clinched the league title Thursday night by nipping the Marion Power Shovel girls 12-9 in the final game of the campaign.

The Industries crew completed the season with eight wins without a loss in league action. The team already had won the first round title. Engineer Depot and the Telephone Company girls were scheduled to wind up the season but league officials said no arrangements had been made to play the game.

Sally Murray went all the way on the hill for the winners to post her eighth win in the league. She allowed 11 hits. Virginia Eby was the catcher.

Murray belted a pair of home runs to aid her own cause. Dorothy Willis, Mickey Carpenter and Doris Huntley also smashed homers. Carpenter ended the game with four hits in four times at bat. The winners clinched the game in the fifth inning when three circuit blasts were hit. They also stopped a shovel rally in the same inning with a double play.

Eileen Sherman pitched for the Shovel. She was nicked for 19 hits. Jennalee Ward, catcher, collected two hits. Barbara Taylor had three for four. Three other girls had two hits. They were Beulah Cochran, Jeanne Deweese, Gloria Cummins and Peggy Bacon.

Cockell Tangles With Matthews

SEATTLE (AP)—Don Cockell, the wade-in - and - swing fighter from London, will meet the veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle tonight in his first fistic test since he won the British Empire heavyweight title.

Nothing will be at stake in the 10-round battle but prestige. Cockell's crown is not being risked and a victory for Matthews would make him champion only of Don Cockell.

Advance ticket sale has indicated this will be the biggest fight, financially, in Pacific Northwest history, the first gate to hit $100,000.

Better Than Beer?

A very different brew you'll want to try!
At Carling's we brew both beer and ale—and each is mighty popular. But more and more people are telling us Carling's Red Cap Ale gives them more pleasure than any beer they ever tasted. They say it's light and dry as the smoothest beer, yet with that extra flavor—that "heart" which only a fine ale can provide. They call it the "light-hearted" ale.
Tonight, why not try it yourself? See whether you are one of those who find Carling's Red Cap Ale tastes even better than beer!

Just the Recipe Everyone Wants

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP) — A recipe for 13 pounds of chawin' tobaccer turned up recently in an old diary. Here it is:

"First, select enough good tobacco (in strength according to taste) to make 10 pounds after it is stemmed; cook one pound of good dried peaches well done, strain the syrup from the peaches; melt one and a half pounds of good licorice; don't let boil—stir regularly; put in one handfull of common salt; use half gallon of water only; after it is well melted add the peach syrup to licorice and one-half pound of white sugar; after it is cool add one-half pint of whiskey or brandy.

"Let your peaches boil down very low so the syrup will be thick, not having but little over one-half gallon of dip after mixing. Now spread your tobacco very thin, sprinkle well with mixture, put more tobacco and sprinkle as before until you use all of your dip.

"Now hang your tobacco on sticks and let dry, scatter it well or it will mold. Let it hang until the first damp spell. It will come in case, then twist or plug and prise it, if you like, in very stout box.

"Now if you will be particular and follow the direction you have 13 pounds of tobacco that will not cost you exceeding $1.75."

Girls' Beauty Called a Myth

LONDON (INS)—London beauty expert William T. McGill is a courageous man. The beauty of a woman, he says, is nothing but a myth—an illusion created mainly by man.

McGill is master of the British Incorporated Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers. At the Guild's annual meeting he said:

"In the animal kingdom, the male struts around with the fine feathers and the female is the dowdy partner.

"And when you boil it down, the human female is about as dowdy as her animal counterpart.

"It was man, always happy to try to improve on nature, who gave woman her fine feathers. He made her clothes, created hat fashions for her, made her jewelry and cosmetics. And it is the hairdresser that finishes what has been started with a hair style that suited her.

"When woman has all those fine feathers created by man, then the myth of woman's beauty is really exploded."

Communist China Has Buying Policy Problem

HONG KONG (UP) — The directors of a group of state-supported trading enterprises in Communist China would never make a go of it under a free enterprise system. In fact, they have flopped under the planned economy of the Communist system.

Bad buying in behalf of the state is the big trouble. A recent report in the Peiping Peoples' Daily said stocks of unmarketable goods were so great as to present a "very serious problem."

"At present," the official Peiping newspaper said, "dead stocks and goods of inferior quality occupy from 20 to 31 per cent of the entire circulating capital of the state trading departments."

ALL FACILITIES

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP) — The County Lawyers Association pointed out in its monthly bulletin that the new courthouse was in an ideal location. It told members the courthouse is near a restaurant, a funeral parlor and a church, so that attorneys can be accommodated if they show up "hungry, dead or in need of prayer."
